Tickets are still available for the 14th Annual Young Artists Awards Gala on Monday, March 6 at the Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre. For $55, a ticket includes a silent auction beginning at 5:30 p.m., dinner at 6 p.m. and the show starting at 7 p.m. In addition to the performances judged by professionals in attendance that evening, the program will feature the Audience Choice award, where ticketholders are invited to vote on their favorite performer. Thirty-five cash scholarships and other prizes will be awarded to the students this year. There will also be a special appearance by the Cypress Lake Center for the Arts award-winning The A Cappella Group. The stage host for the evening is Lois Thome of WINK-TV.

On four separate audition days during two weekends in January, seven panels of 60 professionals and educators in the performing arts adjudicated registered auditions in dance, drama, instrumental music, classical voice and contemporary voice/musical theater. The best of performing arts students ages 8 to 21 from throughout Southwest Florida participated in the largest independent performing arts competition in Lee County, held on the campus of the Alliance for the Arts/Foulds Theatre in Fort Myers.

Late Night With Bernstein

Leonard Bernstein

This February, the 2017 Chamber Series celebrates one of classical music's most enduring figures. A Multi-Media Cabaret: Late Night with Leonard Bernstein is a scintillating, and affectionate multi-media portrait of the personal side of this charismatic, singularly public figure. Hosted by his daugh-

New Play To Open At Alliance For The Arts

Theatre Conspiracy presents Ma Rainey's Black Bottom from February 24 through March 11 at the Alliance for the Arts.

Written by August Wilson and directed by Sonya McCarter, the play is set in a 1927 recording studio in Chicago. Ma Rainey, the mother of blues herself, is late to her own recording session. Her producers are frantic, the band is bored and her trumpeter, Levee, won't stop talking about his new shoes. As the band waits around for Ma, they swap stories about their experiences with racism, religion and, of course, music.

A talkback with Director Sonya McCarter and cast will take place after the March 5 performance. Talkbacks are open to the public and allow the discussion of ideas, themes and performance of the play.

"August Wilson is lyrical, extraordinary and powerful playwright," said Bill Taylor, founder and producing artistic director of Theatre Conspiracy. "This is a fabulous opportunity to highlight one of his best plays."

The Ma Rainey's cast includes a host of local actors including Cantrella Canady as Ma Rainey; Curt Sheard as Cutler; Roosevelt Stewart as Levee; Cicero McCarter III as Slow Drag; Elvis Mortley as Toledo; Charlie Sloin as Irvin; Patrick Day as Sturdyvant; Shaunte Manuel as Dussie Mae; Vladimy Bellefleur as Sylvester; and Austin Harn as the police officer.

Performances are on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. with one Sunday matinee on March 5 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $24 or $11 for students with proper ID. Thursday nights are "buyone-get-one-half-off." Alliance for the Arts Member Theatre Night is Friday, February 24 and tickets are $15 for members of the Alliance. For tickets, call 936-3239 or purchase online at www. theatreconspiracy.org.

This production is sponsored by Noreen Raney.

Alliance for the Arts is located at 10091 McGregor Boulevard in Fort Myers.

Arts And Crafts Fair On Sanibel This Weekend

The Rotary Club of Sanibel-Captiva will hold its 34th annual Arts and Crafts Fair on Saturday and Sunday, February 18 and 19 at The Community House, located at 2173 Periwinkle Way.

The arts and crafts fair is a celebration of community spirit, beautiful arts and crafts from around the country, entertainment, food, and displays from community and charity projects supported by the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club. With no fees for parking and a $5 suggested donation for entry, the public is invited.

More than 300 artists applied for the show this year. The club's jury committee was challenged to choose only the best works of art.

The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Over 100 participating artists will offer unique gifts, wearable art, sculpture, paintings, photography, wood working, painted furniture, jewelry and other wares. Many local businesses have donated items for the silent auction, including weeklong beachfront stays.

This year, the food section will be expanded to the soccer field next to the playground, with an assortment of food vendors and a beer and wine tent.

Proceeds are used to meet community needs, to fund local scholarships, and for human service needs worldwide. For more information, visit www.sanibelartfair.com.

Historic Downtown Fort Myers, Then And Now:

Langford-Miles-Bass House

by Gerri Reaves, PhD

his well-appointed riverfront house had been built only a short time before this circa-1905 photo was snapped. Pictured is the Walter G. and Carrie Watson Langford house on First Street at the foot of Park Avenue.

Before it was destroyed by fire circa-1940, two other important

Fort Myers families would call it home.

In the historic photo, Carrie Langford (left) sits on the porch with an unidentified woman. The child standing in the doorway is Buena, the Langford's daughter, who is about 2 years old at the

The house had been built around 1900, and true to form, the Langfords didn't live there very long. In the first two decades of the 20th century, they lived in at least five residences on First Street.

This is the first of at least three beautiful homes they built on the street. The third and best known is the Langford-Kingston home at Fowler, now owned by the city.

This 16-room house featured many floor-to-ceiling windows, a circular staircase within the turreted section, fireplaces in each room, and a rounded porch.

Note the plentiful but apparently recently planted trees and shrubs and the Caloosahatchee in the background.

Walter's family was one of the most influential in town. Early on, he worked in his father's, Dr. Thomas E. Langford, cattle business. In his relatively short life of 47 years, he exerted considerable influence in business and civic affairs.

He played an important role in bringing the railroad to town, and is remembered for organizing the First National Bank (originally known as Lee County Bank) in 1907 and serving as the first president.

He and Carrie Watson married in 1899 - when he was 25 and she only 13 years old - and so they moved into the house around the time they married. (Sources indicate that there were two ceremonies, first in Caxambas, probably to accommodate family members in a remote part of the county, followed by one in Fort Myers.)

Thus, Carrie was probably no more than 20 when she posed for this photo. Besides Buena, the couple had an older daughter, Faye, by then, too.

Carrie's family was well known too, but for an unusual reason. She was the daughter of the infamous Edgar Watson, who was gunned down by vigilantes at Smallwood's Store in Chokoloskee in 1908 because he was believed to be a murderer.

Peter Matthiessen's novels, including Killing Mr. Watson, provide a fictionalized account of the incident and the mysterious man at its center.

In July 1906, the Langford's sold the property for $14,500 to Dr. Franklin Miles of Elkhart, Índiana, famous for Nervine and other remedies such as Alka-Seltzer. Like many well-off out-of-towners, he and his wife, Elizabeth, had spent time at the Royal Palm Hotel the previous winter, been enchanted with the town, and established a winter home.

Miles went on to be a major force in the area's development, particularly in agricultural research.

The announcement of the sale of the house in the local press enthused over its beauty and price tag. It was described as "richly furnished with choicest native woods:" and surrounded by palms, citrus fruits, a beautiful rose garden and tropical shrubs of all kinds."

By the time the house burned down, Dr. Miles had died, but his widow - now blind - still lived there with their daughter, Louise, her son-in-law Donald Bass, and their two young children.

Historian Marian Godown described the catastrophe as a fast-moving fired caused by a faulty oil furnace that gave the occupants only three minutes to get out of the heart-pine structure. Two nurses also escaped the blaze.

Today, the serene home and garden have been replaced by high-speed traffic and the north-bound span of the Edison Bridge.

Exhibit To Open At Art Center

ecent works by artist Tim Smith (aka Mano Mudd) will be on exhibit at the Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center (SBDAC) from March 3 through March 21.

Smith is currently an artist/educator and one of the founding teachers at Cypress Lake High School Center for the Arts. He moved to Sanibel in 1983 after graduating from The School Art Institute of Chicago to work as a production potter at A Touch of Sanibel Pottery.

Smith has received several awards including a Robert Rauschenberg Scholarship, Surdna Fellowship, Hermitage Fellowship and a Fort Myers Arts and Culture Grant.

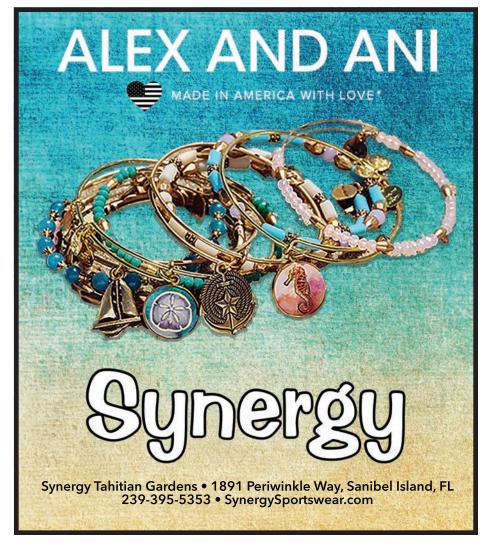

The works to be shown by Smith are highly influenced using technology as the main medium for works referred to as "Wafers" and "Kinetic Wafers." Some of these recent works have been shown at the Tincture Gallery in downtown Fort Myers, projected on a three-story building during Art Walk and Music Walk.

The Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center is located at 2301 First Street in the historic downtown Fort Myers River District.

Grande Dames Tea Tickets

Tickets are now on sale for the 9th annual Grande Dames Tea, presented by the PACE Center for Girls of Lee County.

The Grande Dames Tea honoring Patricia Carroll of Fort Myers, Beverly
McNew of Fort Myers and the late Lalai
Sapp Hamric of Fort Myers will be held Tuesday, March 14 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Broadway Palm Theatre at 1380
Colonial Boulevard in Fort Myers.
Michael Jung, The News-Press Media

Michael Jung, The News-Press Media Group president and publisher, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Seats for the tea are $60 per person and may be reserved at www.pacecenter. org/locations/lee. Table sponsorships are also available. Attendees are encouraged to wear their favorite tea party hat.

The PACE girls will once again create handmade fascinators that will be available for sale later this month. Most hats will be $50 each with a limited number of specialty hats for $100.

As PACE Center for Girls celebrates its 10th anniversary this year, Eunice and Alexandra Bremner are the title sponsors for Grande Dames Tea in honor and loving memory of Berne Davis, Barbara B. Mann and Eleanore Kleist, the first class of Grande Dames honored at this event.

Major event sponsors are Edison

National Bank, Galloway Family of Dealerships, RS Walsh Landscaping, Famous Dave's Restaurant, Broadway Palm Theatre, Caloosa Tent & Rental, Ruth Messmer Florist and Noela Chocolates. Media sponsors are The News-Press Media Group, Grandeur Magazine and Susan Bennett Marketing & Media

Chair of the Grande Dames Tea is Nancy Finch with Kathy Toll serving as co-chair. Both women also are members of the PACE Lee board of directors.

"These three outstanding women come from varied backgrounds and are sure to have some insightful advice for the audience and the PACE girls," said Finch.

"Our theme of The Wisdom of Age – Honoring the Female Spirit is so appropriate because each of these women has much to share from her own life's journey," Toll said.

own life's journey," Toll said.

The Grande Dames Tea was originated by PACE Center for Girls of Lee County to honor women who have played major roles in Southwest Florida history through decades of service, philanthropy and helping others.

The agenda for the tea will include interaction between the PACE girls and the three Grande Dames, in a question-and-answer format.

For more information or to become a sponsor, contact Sara Jordan at 425-2366 ext. 2312, or visit the website.

Comedy Show Coming To The Alliance

Tew York City-based writer and performer Amy Marcs brings her critically acclaimed, one-woman reconstructive comedy Nice T!ts to the Alliance for the Arts on March 17 and 18 at 2 and 8 p.m. and March 19 at 2 p.m.

Directed by Peter Michael Marino, Nice T!ts is a comedic exploration of Marc's roller-coaster experience with cancer and its effect on her perception of feminitiy, womanhood, confidence and mortality. It's a unique perspective full of humor and heart-felt honesty. The show has played to sold-out houses at The People's Improve Theatre in New York since 2014.

Cost for tickets is $22 for Alliance members, $24 for non-member and $11 for students with proper ID.

"I hope to be of service to others with my show. To give hope to women who are going through this, so they know they're not alone and that they are still beautiful, vibrant and sexy," said Marcs. "My story is about the resiliency of the human spirit and finding self-acceptance, love and hope in a very difficult and traumatic situation. And of course, all told through humor, because I believe that is one of the best healing tools we have."

Alliance for the Arts is located at 10091 McGregor Boulevard in Fort Myers.

For tickets, call 939-2787 or visit www. ArtInLee.org. Performances are sponsored in part by the Meisenberg Family Trust.

Food Bank Nets Festival Donation

The Rotary Club of Fort Myers recently honored the Harry Chapin Food Bank of Southwest Florida with a donation from money raised at the club's 8th annual Italian Fest. Continuing their support of the food bank, club members presented Harry Chapin President and CEO Richard LeBer with a check for more than $16,000.

Hosted at the Alliance for the Arts in October, the Italian Fest served some of the best Italian food in Southwest Florida and raised a total of $32,256.80 for various charitable programs in the community. The Italian Fest has raised more than $158,000 since it first began in 2009.

The Rotary Club of Fort Myers President Victoria Stephan said, "Harry Chapin Food Bank of Southwest Florida has had a long-standing positive impact in Southwest Florida and The Rotary Club of Fort Myers is proud to be able to support the organization as it continues its work providing needed meals to many people in our community."

TriCircle Pavers was the proud title sponsor of the 2016 Italian Fest. Planning is underway for this year's festival, scheduled for Sunday, October 22. Sponsorship information is available by contacting The Rotary Club of Fort Myers at Office@RotaryFortMyers.org or 332-8158.

Gallery Exhibition

The Florida Gulf Coast University (FGCU) Art Galleries of the Bower School of Music & the Arts present Visual Language: The Art of Typography and Creative Writing in the ArtLab Gallery from February 23 to March 30, co-curated by graphic design instructor Sasha Minsky and writing instructor Jesse Millner. There will be a reception on Thursday, February 23 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the ArtLab Gallery in the library. The exhibition is sponsored in part by U. Tobe, The Beaches of Fort Myers and Sanibel, the State of Florida, Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs and the Florida Council on Arts and Culture.

When typography, the design and creation of type is applied to literary texts, this collaboration can result in a hybrid form of art that provides incredible visuals and summons intellectually stimulating experiences for both the artists and their audiences. This exhibition features the work of the special topics advanced typography course instructed by Sasha Minsky in collaboration with Jesse Millner's narrative techniques creative writing class. Students from both courses worked together to bring literary narratives alive through the use of innovative typography techniques.

Student typographers from Minsky's class include: Tiffany Billings, Anna Cooke, Kaitlin Dowis, Taryn Estrada, Marile Franco, Eduardo Guerra, Alyssa LaManna, Justin McDowell, Adam Robair, Andrea Rygala, Sarah Wasson and Angelina Zuniga-Reed

Student writers from Millner's class include: Taylor Sweat, Brandon Paul, Kimberly Rosales, and Jacqueline Avetrani.

The ArtLab Gallery is located at the west side of the library building on FGCU's main campus at 10501 FGCU Boulevard South. Parking is available in Lot 7 for gallery visitors; parking passes are available at the information booth at the University's main entrance. Regular viewing hours are: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and Friday; 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday. For images and further information

Local Actor To Perform At Library

Joanna Olsen will perform her new one-woman show Acting Up at the annual meeting of the Friends of the Fort Myers Library on Monday, February 20. The event begins at 6:30 p.m. in the library's meeting rooms at 1651 Lee St. The evening will include refreshments and special drawings. It is free to members of the Friends, while the public is invited to join at the door. Annual membership levels begin at $15. For more information and to reserve a seat, go to www.bit. ly/2k051vh.

Olsen enthralled audiences with her portrayal of Eleanor Roosevelt in The Four Loves of FDR and as the Duchess of Windsor in Wallis Simpson: Royal Obsession. Her new autobiographical play tells the story of a woman who moves from the life she planned to the life waiting for her. Time Magazine said those born between the 30s and early 40s were cautious, unimaginative and unadventurous and named them The Silent Generation. Boy, were they wrong. Intertwined throughout the play are theatrical vignettes highlighting women who are mothers, rebels and busybodies ... anything but silent. From the nuns to New York City, with stops in between, this will be an evening of wit and grit following the path of one of The Silent Generation who turned the tables on the historians.

Olsen started her acting career quite late in life. After her children were out of college, she began her training at The William Esper Studio in New York City and went on to perform at regional theaters in the South and Midwest, including Baltimore's Hippodrome, the Orlando Shakespeare Festival, the Human Race Theatre in Dayton, Palm Beach Drama Works and Atlanta's Alliance Theater.

Bird Exhibition On View At Sanibel Gallery

by Tom Hall

n view through March 4 at Sanibel's Watson MacRae Gallery is Aviary: An Installation. As the name suggests, the exhibition celebrates birds from warblers to raptors in a variety of mediums from fiber to stone.

This exciting exhibit features work by eight artists from both coasts of the U.S. and Florida. Individually and together, they have immortalized their love of birds in their beautiful and remarkable work.

Lucy Dierks of Asheville, North Carolina is known for exquisite porcelain pieces that feature her hallmark hand-sculpting, interesting textures and wonderful glazes. Aviary includes over 20 of Dierks' pieces. Many have a tropical theme.

Delray Beach's Amy Gross continues to amaze collectors and casual viewers with her intricate fiber worlds of birds and their environs. Since Gross first exhibited at Watson MacRae in 2010, her work has been recognized by inclusion in museum shows and selected for the cover of Fiber Arts magazine.

"When I first saw Ann Hollingsworth's work on line, I was stunned that someone could create birds' nests out of glass," remarked Watson MacRae Gallery owner Maureen Watson. Intricate and unique, this California artist's abstract nests involve a painstakingly long process of creation as do actual nests.

Jane Jaskewich of Atlanta, Georgia returns to the gallery with her new stone sculptures of birds that accentuate both the grace of the bird and the beauty of the stone.

Naples' own Deborah Martin creates intricate drawings of intimate moments in the life of her subjects. Her use of the once archaic medium of encaustics gives her work a softness that is juxtaposed with the crisp clear line of her drawings.

Mark Messersmith is a professor of painting at Florida State University in Tallahassee. Teaming with the wildness and weirdness of our exotic southern landscape, his work explores the spirit and struggle and survival of creatures in their shrinking environment. For this exhibit, Messersmith has created smaller works of birds in his own distinctive style.

Since Hollis Jeffcoat returned to Sanibel, she has been immersed in the nature she loves. Recently, the sight and sound of birds have dominated her imagination and infiltrated her paintings. More than the paintings of her extensive Traveler series where birds were more iconic, these works are quieter, solitary and more personal.

California resident and New York City native Jane Rosen's love of wildlife and dedication to raptors permeates her highly acclaimed work of birds of prey in stone, glass and on paper. "Visiting galleries in Chelsea when I first opened mine, I walked into an exhibit on creatures and Rosen's lone sculpture of a hawk dominated the room with its power and beauty," said Watson. "I never forgot that moment and have looked at her work from time to time over the years." A wonderful set of circumstances brings her fabulous prints to Sanibal

Watson MacRae Gallery is located in unit B3 at 2340 Periwinkle Way on Sanibel.

Edison Sculpture Celebrates 12th Anniversary

There is a sculpture of Thomas Edison that greets visitors to the Edison & Ford Winter Estates. It stands beneath the mighty banyan tree at the entrance and is unquestionably the most photographed statue in all of Fort Myers. At seven feet, four inches in height, the sculpture is "heroic size," meaning it is 25 percent larger than life. It was made by North Fort Myers sculptor DJ Wilkins, and donated by Estates' patron Darilyn Alderman. It was dedicated on February 11, 2005, the 158th anniversary of Edison's birth, which recently marked the sculpture's 12th anniversary.

To read more about this or the other half dozen public artworks that adorn the grounds of the Edison & Ford Winter Estates, visit www.artswfl.com/public-art-2/fort-myers-river-district-public-art-2/edison-ford-estates-collection/edison-ford-estates-collection.

Why You Should See This Film At The Fort Myers Film Festival

One of the films being screened at this year's Fort Myers Film Festival is The Stairs. It depicts an elderly man who listens to a tape recording his father made prior to his death in which he describes his most horrific experience in Auschwitz during World War II.

The film is a short, dense, multi-faceted story susceptible to multiple, sometimes conflicting interpretations. The film starts and ends with a flashback to a night when the man, then a 10-year-old child, sat at the top of the stairs eavesdropping on his parents' conversation with a couple they'd invited over for the evening. It's a cinematic device that gives the audience a nostalgic point of entry into the terrible story his father tells about how he was spared from being gassed on the day of his arrival at Auschwitz. Most people have had the experience of listening in when their parents have company over - whether it's from the top of the stairs, the hallway around the corner or some other vantage where discovery is unlikely. And so, like that wide-eyed 10-year-old at the top of the stairs, we too find ourselves leaning forward and straining to hear the broken cadence of the story his father now tells.

Whether it is more about remembering the Holocaust than exploring the universal phenomenon of survivor guilt, The Stairs is definitely one of the films you should make a point of seeing during the running of the 7th annual Fort Myers Film Festival, which runs from March 8 through March 12. The Stairs is an independent film directed by Hakym Reagan and produced by Blake Laitner and Mort Laitner. The cast includes Dennis Fitzpatrick, David Poland, Anne Voxx, Daniel Timothy Treacy, Peter Glazer, Drew Thacher, Elizabeth Zimmerman and Max Albright.

The Fort Myers Film Festival will have five venues that will screen films: Barbara B. Mann Performing Arts Hall, Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center, Alliance for the Arts, Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre and Imaginarium Cinema. After-parties and dinners with the filmmakers will take place at Twisted Vine Bistro, Firestone, Blu Sushi and other select venues.

Tom Hall is both an amateur artist and aspiring novelist who writes art quest thrillers. He is in the final stages of completing his debut novel titled Art Detective. A former tax attorney, he lives in Estero with his fiancé and their four cats.

Taste Of Love Participating Restaurants

pecial Equestrians is bringing together the area's most successful restaurateurs for Taste of Love, the annual food and wine extravaganza to be held Sunday, March 5 from 5 to 9 p.m. at The Ranch Concert Hall & Saloon, located at 2158 Colonial Boulevard in Fort Myers.

The popular event's theme is Meet Us at The Ranch and will feature dishes from the area's most successful culinarians, wine pairings, live and silent auctions and entertainment. Local celebrity auctioneer Jay Severson and emcee Gina Birch will oversee the evening's events. More than 400 guests attended the event in 2016, raising $160,000 for the therapeutic horseback riding program.

Participating restaurants include:

- Seminole Casino Hotel's Lucky Mi Noodle House, Chef Osmany Acosta
- The European American Bakery Café, Chef Ariel Garcia and Chef Sam Savich
- Blue Pointe Oyster Bar & Seafood Grill, Chef Andy Brown
- Three Fishermen Seafood Restaurant, Chef Tim Jordan
- Mastello and A Touch of Italy, Chef Robert Brandt
- Sweet P's Bakery & Bistro, Chef Catherine Pinault
- Bruno's of Brooklyn, Chef Calcedonio Bruno

- Erickson & Jensen Seafood, Anna Erickson
- Fancy's Southern Café, Chef Daniel Glick
- Jing Due Japanese Buffet, Chef Yong Xie Yang

"We are thrilled and honored to have these highly-trained and successful culinary professionals join us to help raise muchneeded funds for Special Equestrian's therapeutic horseback riding programs," said Jan Fifer, the organization's executive director.

All proceeds from Taste of Love will benefit Special Equestrians, a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping children and adults with disabilities by providing a structured therapeutic horseback riding program and equine assisted activities. The Special Equestrians therapeutic riding program has been awarded Premier Accredited Center status by the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship. Serving Lee, Charlotte, Hendry and Glades counties, Special Equestrians is a United Way of Lee, Hendry, Glades and Okeechobee Counties Partner Agency that has been serving Southwest Florida for more than 29 years.

Sponsors include Florida Weekly, Palm Printing and Signs Now. Additional sponsorship and underwriting opportunities are available at www.specialequestrians.net or by calling Freda Jones at 565-3792 or emailing flj@rbsc.net.

Tickets are $100 per person and may be purchased online at www. specialequestians.net or by calling 851-7070 or emailing jtfifer@gmail.com.

A Night At The Museum Gala

Take a step back in time at the Night at the Museum Gala 2017 on Saturday, March 4, and you might discover you're standing next to giant pre-historic ground sloth. A Night at the Museum is the theme of the gala from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Imaginarium Science Center and Southwest Florida Museum of History – under the same roof, at last – located at 2000 Cranford Avenue in Fort Myers.

Enjoy endless hors d'oeuvres, an open bar, historic re-enactments and amazing auction items. Along the way, discover extinct animals and figures of Florida history come to life. It's not a figment of your imagination, just a night of wonder to raise funds as the new combined museum rolls out a comprehensive plan to bring new exhibits, expanded programming and much more excitement to benefit the Southwest Florida community and visitors of all ages.

At Night at the Museum Gala 2017, you can personally ask Ponce de Leon about his fountain of youth, but he might scoff at the notion and instead dwell on details of the Calusa incursion that drove him from Southwest Florida. Jacob Summerlin, the King of the Crackers, will regale you with tales of how he became one of the wealthiest Floridians by the age of 40 raising cattle in the Peace and Kissimmee River valleys.

Along with all the mystery, magic and mischief that has made the Imagine Gala an annual social calendar "must do," lucky attendees will find themselves planning for luxury vacations, chef's table dinners and other opulent auction prizes, which in past years have included a Steamboat Springs cabin getaway, fabulous Caribbean vacations and even an opportunity to dive on the USS Mohawk with the stars of the Animal Planet series Tanked.

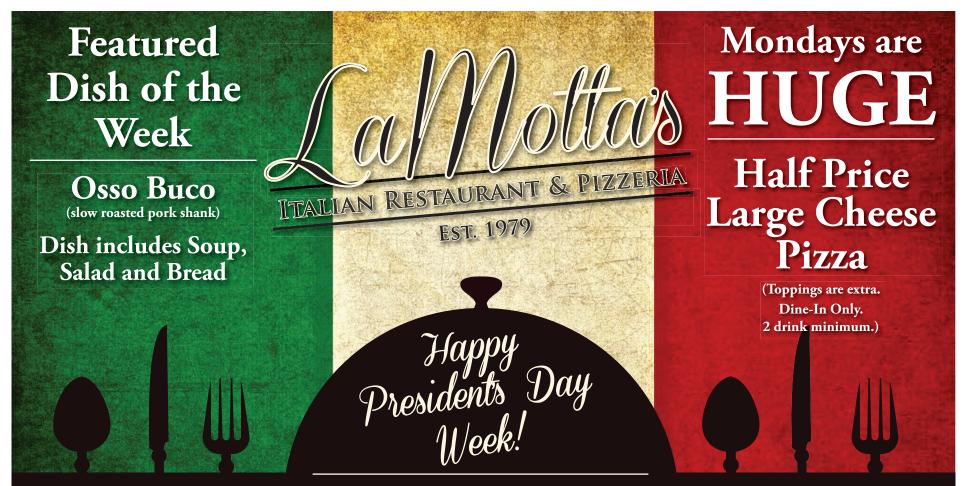

Many levels of sponsorship are available, offering exciting promotional opportunities, gala tickets, family memberships and fun packs and more. All money raised at the event benefits The Imaginarium Group, a 501(c)3 organization that supports the Imaginarium and the Southwest Florida Museum of History in raising exhibit and education program funds.

Prayer Vigil

he public is invited to attend a community prayer vigil at 6 p.m. on Thursday, February 23 at the Dunbar Community School auditorium at 1857 High Street in Fort Myers. It is hosted by the Dunbar Neighborhood Watch and Mayor's Task Force.

This will be the seventh year for the community prayer, which encourages unity in the community.

We come together to pray for victims of violence and the families that have lost loved ones," said Taunya Cola, the event's organizer and coordinator of the Dunbar Neighborhood Watch. "I started this to let families know that they're still being thought about, still being prayed for. We want them to know they are not forgotten."

In addition to praying for families that have been the victims of violence, attendees of the candlelight vigil also pray for law enforcement officers, city and county officials and the school district.

'This isn't just for the Dunbar community," added Cola. "It's for everybody. It's about love. Come light a candle for a loved one."

Sing Out Choral Festival

he 4th annual Sing Out Choral Festival will be held on Friday and Saturday, February 24 and 25 at New Hope Presbyterian Church, 10051 Plantation Road, in Fort Myers.

The Choral Festival will be led by Dr. Trent Brown, artistic director and conductor for the Symphonic Chorale of Southwest Florida and associate professor of music at Florida Gulf Coast University, where he teaches all choral ensembles.

Sing Out begins with a workshop at 6 p.m. on Friday. The workshop will continue on Saturday, along with a morning and afternoon rehearsal. A festival concert (open to the public) will be the culmination of these efforts, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday and complete with all Sing Out participants, soloists and instrumentalists.

The festival has been attracting a wider audience every year. Sing Out 2016 featured a total of 125 singers and there are hopes to exceed that number this year.

The theme of Sing Out 2017 is Mass Appeal, and the repertoire features favorite movements from well-known masses, including the Kyrie from Schubert's Mass in G Minor, the Gloria from Haydn's Mass in Time of War, Credo from Robert Ray's Gospel Mass. the Sanctus and Benedictus from Mozart's Requiem and the Agnus Dei and the Dona Nobis from Bach's B Minor Mass.

No auditions are necessary and all community singers are invited as well as high school and college student singers and visitors to the Southwest Florida area who would love to devote a weekend to the choral art form. Registration forms can be found at www.symphonicchorale.org. Registration fee is $50 per participant. Tickets to attend the Saturday, February 25th concert can also be purchased on the website. Tickets are $10 for students, $25 for general admission and $30 for preferred seating.

Music Festival Returns This Fall

he fourth annual Island Hopper Songwriter Fest returns the area from September 22 to October 1. The popular festival will feature new artists and new events.

The free festival kicks off on Captiva from September 22 to 24 and wraps up September 29 to October 1 on Fort Myers Beach. Historic downtown Fort Myers will once again feature midweek performances. There will be a limited number of ticketed events for special performances.

"Each year we get more talent and create more exciting events for the Island Hopper Songwriter Fest," said Tamara Pigott, executive director of the Lee County Visitor & Convention Bureau. "This festival offers fans the rare opportunity to hear the stories behind the songs in small, intimate venues.'

Major acts and songwriters attending the festival will be announced in the near future.

We look forward to surprising fans with some high-profile acts," said Louis Kaplan, iHeartMedia's senior vice president of programming. "The Island Hopper Songwriter Fest is one of our

CROW Case Of The Week:

Egg Incubation

by Bob Petcher

Incubation has a dual meaning. In the natural sense, it means an egg-laying animal hatching its egg(s) often done with the brooding parent providing the right body heat for optimal temperature. However, there are also instances when the parent is unable to participate in the process and an environment of controlled temperature, humidity and oxygen concentration is needed in order to sustain optimal conditions for growth and development of the egg.

At CROW, an adult female redshouldered hawk was brought in from Fort Myers on February 10 with initially suspected head trauma. The bird of prey arrived "very weak and obtund," meaning it had diminished awareness and was mentally dull. She also arrived with a previous fracture in the left wing.

Unfortunately, the red-shouldered hawk did not survive long after arrival to the Sanibel clinic. However, during x-rays at admittance, it was discovered the patient was pregnant. CROW medical officials decided to remove the egg with hopes of continuing the artificial incubation process for a successful hatching. It was reported that the clinic incubation would require rotating the egg eight times a day.

This process would continue only if the redshouldered hawk egg was found viable after a few days. If so, the artificial incubation process would need 30 to 35 days for the egg to batch.

days for the egg to hatch.
On Monday, CROW
officials reported that the hawk's egg was determined not to be viable. CROW's hospital director, Dr. Heather Barron, was "unable to find any evidence of growth so it may have been not viable before being removed."

There was also no confirmation that the deceased red-shouldered hawk indeed had head trauma. Reports did say that head trauma was one of the likely causes due to its "obtunded mentation."

Other possible causes of death include toxicity and septicemia, a bacterial infection spread through the entire vascular system of the body.

While it was unfortunate that the patient did not survive past the weekend, it was not a surprise that the bird egg could not be incubated.

In general, bird eggs are a rare occurrence at CROW and are difficult to be successful entirely through incubation," said Dr. Barron. "CROW has had success with incubating turtle eggs at roughly an

The Perfect Winter Setup

by Capt. Matt

That a week be out on the water with more unseasonably warm conditions and big minus morning low tides. When it comes to our wintertime fishing, I just can't think of a better setup than we had all this week to consistently catch quality fish. The catch-and-release snook bite during these minus tides was just on fire in many of my favorite mangrove creeks. Every little nook and cranny in these creeks held at least a few snook and, once the bite stopped, it was just a matter of moving 50 yards and there they were again.

Along with the great snook action back in the creeks on a normal day, you could mix in a few bonus redfish measuring anywhere from 16 to 30 inches. While fishing the deeper water bends and undercut shorelines in these creeks, we also caught several gag grouper up to 20 inches. Then often once our free-lined shiners drifted out to the middle of these channels, we caught plenty of jacks along with some keeper-sized trout and mangrove snapper. Our fishing just does not get a whole lot better for February.

When everything just comes together right and we are lucky enough to enjoy these big minus low tides during daylight hours, I love to fish places I can only just slide my shallow draft boat into. There are lots of these deep creeks throughout the sound that have a very shallow bar across the entrance or even just a narrow slightly deeper cut that allows access to them during these low water periods. Once you gain access to one of these creeks, you will find many have a winding channel with water from three to eight feet deep. During these lowest of tides, these areas consolidate the fish into a very small area.

I like to enter many of these creeks while the tide is still falling so I am trapped until the tide changes and the water level comes back up. During the last hour as the tide bottoms out, it basically closes the door on any other boats getting into the creek. During the ideal tide like we experienced this week once in these mangrove channels, it was like fishing in a barrel. Add a live well full of shiners to the barrel and the action is fast and furious and your shiners simply cannot escape the hungry fish.

Gary Biltgen of Sanibel with a mangrove creek redfish caught while fishing with Capt. Matt Mitchell this week

Other options on these low tides included fishing the edges of the many exposed bars in the sound. Find a cutthrough or even the tip of one of these bars with a drop-off to deeper water, and a good-moving current and the fish will be there. Throwing soft plastic jigs down the edge of the bar is a great way to cover lots of water and quickly find the fish. A few such bars that come to mind are the edges of the mailboat cut just south of St. James City and the Ice House Bar at the southern entrance to Safety Harbor on North Captiva.

We have had for the most part an unbelievably warm winter so far with our water temperatures only dropping below 70 degrees for a few brief times. Even after a passing cold front, air and water temperatures have quickly rebounded and never totally shut down the snook bite for more than a day or two. Add to that lighter than usual winter winds for the most part, and we have experienced a winter anglers' paradise. Nothing makes me happier than having lots of options on a wide variety of species in January and

My friend Mark 'Bird' Westall died this week. Bird knew the ins and outs of Ding Darling and the Sanibel River along with every living thing in there better than anyone I will ever know. As a teenager growing up on Sanibel in the early 1980s. I was lucky enough to meet Bird through

Yellowwood

Native yellowwood, listed as endangered in the state, usually grows to small-tree size photos by Gerri Reaves

by Gerri Reaves

ative yellowwood's (Schaefferia frutescens) common name is inspired by its hard yellow wood that is prized by woodcarvers.

It usually grows to the size of a shrub or small tree, but this fast-grower can reach as high as 30 feet in ideal conditions.

Its natural habitat is tidewater areas and rockland hammocks.

This member of the bittersweet family is listed as endangered in the Florida, meaning that it is in imminent danger of extinction and unlikely to survive if the causes of the plant's decline continue.

The attractive dense foliage makes this plant a good hedge, screen or border and provides some cover for birds – and, foliage's similarity to that of the English boxwood gives it another common name, Florida boxwood.

The oval evergreen leaves are alternate and two to four inches long with slightly rolled edges, pointed tips and angled green stems.

Clusters of small greenish white four-petaled flowers appear in the leaf axil (the angle formed by a stem and a leaf or leaf stem). Male and female flowers appear on different plants, so include male and female plants in the landscape for maximum flowering and fruiting production.

Flowers bloom throughout the year, but peak in spring.

The tiny fruit ripens from green to yellow to shiny red. Fleshy, round and two-seeded, it persists on the plant, enhancing the ornamental appeal.

The bark is smooth gray or brown, but ridged or furrowed on older trees.

Resilient and low-maintenance, it can survive in nutrient-poor soil, but needs some organic content – such as a humusy top layer – to do well.

Give it partial shade or sun and moist but well-drained slightly alkaline soil.

Drought and salt tolerance make it suitable for some coastal landscapes.

Yard Sale

The Tip Top Isles & Terrace waterfront community will hold a neighborhood-wide yard sale on Saturday, February 18 from 8 a.m. to noon. The sale is located behind Beach Bowl on the corner of San Carlos Boulevard and Broadway Avenue. Approximately 10 households from the 54-home community on three streets will participate. Look for signs. A portion of the sale proceeds will go toward community improvements.

Butterfly And Blossom Festival

The Florida Native Butterfly Society is holding its annual Butterfly and Blossom Festival starting on Friday and Saturday nights, February 24 and 25 with a Twilight Conservatory Tour. The cost to attend is a tax deductible $25 donation and includes a tour at 7, 8 or 9 p.m., Champagne, hors d'oeuvres and a chance at raffle items.

This is a great opportunity to see how butterflies roost at night.

On Saturday and Sunday, February 25 and 26 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., admission into the Conservatory is $4 per person. There will be vendors, local authors, games and family fun for all.

The festival is a fundraiser for the Florida Native Butterfly Society, a 501(c)3 educational facility breeding and raising native butterflies, located at 1815 Fowler Street in Fort Myers. For tickets, call 690-2359.**

Conference Considers Fed's Future In Coastal Management

submitted by Ken and Kate Gooderham, ASBPA Managing Directors

That is the future of federal coastal involvement and investment with a new administration taking the reins in Washington, DC? That's the focus of an upcoming conference focused on federal policy and regulation.

This Coastal Summit, entitled A New Commitment To Our Coast, will be held in Washington, DC from February 28 to March 2, presented by the American Shore & Beach Preservation Association (ASBPA). The program will combine conference sessions with outreach visits to a variety of federal agencies, as well as opportunities for attendees to schedule meetings with their federal representatives during the early days of the new administration and Congress.

"At the heart of ASBPA's mission is the goal of protecting and improving the nation's coasts and shore ecosystems,' said ASBPA President Tony Pratt. "So let's ask ourselves what would resonate in the new administration and how we can bring that/those issues to new government to make the convincing argument that an investment in the coast pays tremendous dividends in jobs, economic stimulus, reduction of costly storm damage response and recovery, and community protection - the issues ASBPA has been pushing for

The uncertainty – and opportunity – of a new administration is reflected in the conference program, which includes sessions on:

Understanding the New Normal

• Rising Seas and Lowering Expectations – The lay of the land with DĈ Lobbyists

• Making Your Best Case for the Coast: Optimizing Hill and Advocacy Visit Time

- Stakeholders Perspective: Getting Sand on the Beach, Cheaply, Quickly and Regionally
- Collaborative Science: Creating a National Coastal Research Program
- Moving Backward Planning for

Keynote speakers include:

- Maj. Gen. Donald Jackson, Deputy Commanding General for Civil and Emergency Operations, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
- James Dalton, Director of Civil Works, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

• Collin O'Mara, president and CEO, National Wildlife Federation

- Renee Orr, chief of the Office of Strategic Resources, Bureau of Ocean Energy Management
- Former U.S. Senator Mary Landrieu (D-LA)
- Norma Jean Mattei, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers Small-group visits to the following federal agency offices are planned:

- U.S. Army Corps of EngineersFederal Emergency Management
- Ú.S. Fish & Wildlife Service
- National Marine Fisheries ServiceBureau of Ocean Energy
- Management

In addition, the conference will offer:

- A Capitol Hill briefing in conjunction with the Coastal States Organization
  • A Capitol Hill Coastal Celebration
- Reception to honor coastal champions from throughout the federal government.
- A presentation spotlighting the 2016 Best Restored Beaches award winners: Babes Beach Galveston, Texas; Rosewood Park, Illinois; Seabrook Island, South Carolina; Topsail Beach, North Carolina; and Redondo Beach, California.

This marks the 17th year the Coastal Summit has been convened in Washington as a coastal policy-focused conference attracting coastal professionals, officials, scientists and advocates. Founded in 1926, the ASBPA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit that advocates for healthy coastlines by promoting the integration of science, policies and actions that maintain, protect and enhance the coasts of America. ## Preliminary Plans For Downfown Hotel Revealed he City of Fort Myers is one step closer to seeing its long-awaited convention hotel break ground. At a City Council workshop on February 6, Mainsail Lodging and Development unveiled preliminary plans for Fort Myers' new downtown hotel.

The still-unnamed Autograph Collection Hotel by Marriott will stand 12 stories with approximately 225 guest rooms and suites. It will feature a signature restaurant along with a local diner, rooftop bar and culinary theater. The four- to five-star hotel will also encompass a parking garage with 210 parking spaces. Street-level retail storefronts will be designed to match the character of existing downtown architecture.

The hotel, in combination with Mainsail's planned renovations to the Harborside Event Center, will make Fort Myers a destination for business and convention travelers. In addition to the conference space available at Harborside, the new hotel will also provide 20,000 square feet of function space.

City leaders are pleased with the progress so far.

The idea is for this hotel to blend with the community," said City Manager Saeed Kazemi. "It will mesh with the existing culture and character of the area and connect our history with our future.

Developers hope to break ground on the project as early as late spring. Main Sail anticipates completion of the project in late fall 2018.

he Planned Giving Council of Lee County, Inc., formerly known as Partnership for Philanthropic Planning, will present Influence Squared at the Thursday, February 23 meeting at Blue Coyote Business & Social Club, 9854 Caloosa Yacht and Racquet Club Drive, in Fort Myers. Networking begins at 11:30 a.m., lunch and program begin at noon.

There is no cost for members. Cost for non-members is $30 and includes lunch. Reservation deadline is Monday, February 20 at noon. To RSVP go to www.plannedgivinglee.org.

Heather Christie, certified leadership and executive coach, will be the guest speaker. The event is sponsored by Ĥughes, Snell & Co., P.A.

As a leader, your ability to influence others is paramount to your success. In every communication you have with someone, you are either increasing or decreasing your influence. During the program, attendees will increase their understanding of:

• The language of influence

• Practical strategies that will increase influence

• How to adapt for a higher level of communication and influence

• How to increase rapport with employees, vendors and volunteers

Prior to founding her coaching firm in 2005, Christie had a successful law practice as a partner in a prominent Chicago law firm where she practiced as an international lobbyist. She recently published her second book, Passionistas. She and her co-authors reached Amazon #1 status in three categories and bestseller in 14 categories. Christie has been recognized both nationally and globally as a leader in the coaching industry. She serves as president-elect of the National Speakers Association South Florida Chapter.

Free Street Cam App

free Apple app is now available for both your mobile Andriod and Apple devices to access the popular City of Sanibel "Street Cams." Last year, the city installed six cameras that provide residents and commuters access to real-time streaming of Sanibel road conditions at key locations.

To install either app, visit www. mysanibel.com/live-street-cams from your mobile device.

To install the Android app, click on the button Get it On Google Play.

To install the Apple app, click on the button Download on the App Store.

Sanibel Mayor Kevin Ruane stated, "In response to suggestions from our community, we are continuing to embrace technological options for conveniently placing real-time data at the fingertips of citizens and island workers when they are making decisions on when to utilize which roadways. We are also continuing to evaluate additional options for future deployment of additional initiatives that are cloud-based.'

The city's traffic initiatives are funded through beach parking fees, causeway tolls and the gas tax.数

Women Of Distinction Awards

The Ladies Leading Right in Cape Coral wish to honor and celebrate women of distinction throughout Cape Coral and Lee County. The nomination process was launched in January at the general meeting.

Any Lee County woman who exhibits leadership, teamwork, integrity, compassion and dedication to her community in her field of expertise can be nominated. Many give back to communities through time, talent and incredible efforts. Most anyone is eligible. The categories potentially being honored are: Charitable/Community Steward; Business Woman; Educator; Creative Art/Media/Entertainment; Health Care Provider; Political/Elected Leader; First Responder; High School/College Student. The selection committee will choose exemplary leaders in six of these categories who will be honored on April 7. Of the six honorees, one will be chosen as the 2017 Woman of Distinction and overall honoree.

'We will hold an awards ceremony on April 7 to honor six very special women in Lee County. We will recognize these Women of Distinction, women who make a very positive difference in our communities. Our mission: together to grow our knowledge about our blessed republic and lift each other up in the process." said Pati Smith, recording secretary and Women of Distinction committee chair.

The awards will be announce at the inaugural Women of Distinction Gala. Participants will enjoy an evening of celebration, entertainment, and a keynote speaker (to be announced.) Thanks go to The Honorable Francis and Mrs. Kathleen Rooney for being the title sponsor of this

Take an opportunity to nominate female leaders in your profession, nonprofit, church, neighborhood, etc. Ladies may also self-nominate.

Take In A Spring Training Game At Other Nearby Historic Ballparks

by Ed Frank

Tith upwards of $125 million invested here in recent years to build JetBlue Park for the Boston Red Sox and to completely remodel the CenturyLink Sports Complex for the Minnesota Twins, these two facilities are among the very finest in all of baseball for Spring Training.

As tens of thousands of baseball fans flock to our area in the weeks ahead, these investments of public funds for the two ballparks have proven rich returns.

There are now 15 Major League teams that train in Florida and 15 that train in Arizona. And nearly every facility for these 30 teams have either been built anew or completely revamped.

For many years, we have written in detail the work involved in building the new JetBlue Park and the huge overhaul of the CenturyLink Sports Complex.

But if you're a baseball fan and want to take in a game or two during Spring Training at two other nearby facilities, you might want to travel to McKechnie Field in Bradenton and Ed Smith Stadium in

A howl went up this week by local residents in Bradenton when the name was changed from LECOM Park to McKechnie Field, the longtime home of the Pittsburgh Pirates. This is baseball's oldest ballpark in Spring Training and, despite numerous upgrades over the years, it still has the look and feel of the place where Babe Ruth and Roberto Clemente played.

The name change came in a deal between the Pirates and LECOM which stands for Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine, one of the nation's largest medical colleges.

The Pirates have a 30-year lease on the facility with renaming rights. They chose the name McKechnie honoring Hall of Famer Bill McKechnie who coached the Pirates to the 1925 World Series title.

But change never comes easy and local residents protested loudly.

Ed Smith Stadium in Sarasota also has a long history as it has served the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds before both of these teams moved to Arizona.

The Baltimore Orioles became the stadium's tenant in 2010 with a 30-year lease and, in 2011, a $31.2 million renovation was completed. Refurbished seats from the Orioles famed Oriole Park at Camden Yards were installed, a fabric sunshade system was built and capacity was increased from 7,400 to 8,500.

Yes, "the Rites of Spring" are back with us. And you might want to enjoy a game in a different venue.

Fort Myers Miracle Baseball Team To Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The Fort Myers Miracle, the Class A affiliate of the Minnesota Twins, will celebrate their 25th anniversary this season with a celebration throughout the season.

The Miracle moved here in 1991 and began play in 1992 in what was then called Hammond Stadium, now CenturyLink Sports Complex. That first season playing in the Florida State League was a co-op arrangement with players from the Twins, Texas Rangers, Cleveland Indians and Florida Marlins.

In 1993, the Miracle became a full affiliate of the Twins and has remained so since. In those 25 seasons, more than 160 players advanced from the Miracle to the Major Leagues including such stars as David Örtiz, Joe Mauer, Torii Hunter, Justin Morneau and Brian Dozier.

In recent years, Miracle fans have watched current top prospects Byron Buxton, Miguel Sano, Jose Berrios and Max Kepler.

The Miracle opens the 2017 season April 8 against the Jupiter Hammerheads. Special events, including fireworks shows,

Spring Training Security Measures

The Red Sox recently announced that all fans entering JetBlue Park at Fenway South for the 2017 Spring Training season will be screened using new metal detectors at all ballpark gates. The enhanced security measure follows new requirements from Major League Baseball calling for metal detection at all spring training games - an expansion of the 2015 mandate that required metal detection at all regular season Major League facilities.

Fans will be asked to remove cell phones, cameras and other large metal objects before walking through the metal detectors. Fans do not need to remove smaller objects, such as wallets, coins, keys, jewelry, eyeglasses, shoes and belts. Additionally, bags brought into the ballpark may not exceed 16x16x8 inches and are subject to search.

This procedure, which results from MLB's continuing work with the Department of Homeland Security to standardize security practices, will be in addition to bag checks that are now uniform throughout MLB games as well," said Katie Haas, vice president of Florida business operations for the Red Sox.

The gates at Fenway South will open two hours before game time beginning February 23. Fans are asked to arrive early to allow extra time for screenings. Special accommodations will be made for those needing extra assistance.

The Red Sox play its first exhibition game on Thursday, February 23 at 1:05 p.m. against the Northeastern University Huskies. The team will play a total of 19 home games, including 17 Grapefruit League games and a World Baseball Classic exhibition game against Team USA on March 9. Red Sox Spring Training is presented by CVS Health. 袋

Lee County Hosts Collegiate Classic

aseball and softball players from across the nation will assemble in Lee County on February 25 through March 25 for the 27th annual Lee County Parks & Recreation Gene Cusic Collegiate Classic.

Men's and women's NCAA Division III baseball and softball teams, as well as NAIA softball teams, will have the opportunity to compete in spring break tournaments before their respective seasons begin. More than 150 teams primarily from the Midwest and Northeast are expected to compete The lineup will include the women's softball team at Florida SouthWestern State College.

An estimated 500 games will be played at CenturyLink Sports Complex, Lee County Player Development Complex, North Collier Regional Park and Terry Park Sports Complex. Admission to the games is free for spectators.

Last year's collegiate classic brought 3,800 sports visitors to Lee County, which generated roughly 5,000 hotel room nights and about $2.5 million in direct economic impact.

The Gene Cusic Collegiate Classic continues to provide the public and visitors to Lee County with an opportunity to watch quality Division III baseball and softball programs from around the Northeast and Midwest," said Jesse Lavender, acting deputy director, Lee County Parks & Recreation. "Lee County Parks & Recreation staff work diligently to provide this historic free admission tournament as an alternative to spring training.

The tournament is named for Gene Cusic of Aurora, Illinois, who was a teacher, coach, principal, superintendent and administrator in Illinois schools. He also taught a year in Lima, Peru, and served as principal of the Oxford Summer School for the American Institute for Foreign Study. He retired to Fort Myers in 1988 and joined the Lee County Parks & Recreation staff as the athletic program manager. He established the collegiate classic in 1990 with only 11 teams. The event took off and, at one point, boasted 300 teams of men's baseball and women's fast-pitch softball. It became so popular that as many teams that signed up were also turned away. Cusic passed away in 1995, but the event remains a stronghold in Lee County.

Celebrity Tennis Match Returns

In its 9th year, the world-class celebrity tennis experience Madisen's Match will take place on March 31 and April 1 at The Landings Yacht, Golf and Tennis Club. Event attendees will get to meet this year's all-star line-up including Mardy Fish, Robby Ginepri, Tom Gullikson, Mikael Pernfors, Luke and Murphy Jensen and Kathy Rinaldi. Developed to benefit individuals suffering with brain tumors, the 2017 event expects to raise $150,000.

"Madisen's Match gives the every-day amateur the rare opportunity to spend the day with the world's best tennis players. During the weekend event, participants have improved their tennis games and helped brain tumor patients and their families," said Madisen's Match founder Duane Chaney.

The two-day event will kick off on Friday, March 31 with a gala with live entertainment, a silent and live auction and a four-course dinner where attendees will get to meet-and-greet with celebrity tennis players. On Saturday, April 1 participants can enjoy a full day of activities including the Legends Tennis Fantasy Camp,

What's Smarter – Paying Off Debts Or Investing?

by Jennifer Basey

If you're just starting out in your career, you will need to be prepared to face some financial challenges along the way – but here's one that's not unpleasant: choosing what to do with some extra disposable income. When this happens, what should you do with the money? Your decisions could make a real difference in your ability to achieve your important financial goals.

Under what circumstances might you receive some "found" money? You could get a year-end bonus from your employer, or a sizable tax refund, or even an inheritance. However, the money comes to you, don't let it "slip through your fingers." Instead, consider these two moves: investing the money or using it to pay off debts.

Which of these choices should you pick? There's no one "right" answer, as everyone's situation is different. But here are a few general considerations:

- Distinguish between "good" and "bad" debt. Not all types of debt are created equal. Your mortgage, for example, is probably a "good" form of debt. You're using the loan for a valid purpose - i.e., living in your house and you likely get a hefty tax deduction for the interest you pay. On the other hand, nondeductible consumer debt that carries a high interest rate might be considered "bad" debt - and this is the debt you might want to reduce or eliminate when you receive some extra money. By doing so, you can free up money to save and invest for retirement or other goals.
  - Compare making extra mortgage payments vs. investing. Many of us get some psychological benefits by making extra house payments. Yet, when you do have some extra money, putting it toward your house may not be the best move. For one thing, as mentioned above, your mortgage can be considered a "good" type of debt, so you may not need to rush to pay it off. And from an investment standpoint, your home is somewhat "illiquid" – it's not always easy to get money out of it. If you put your extra money into traditional investments, such as stocks and bonds, you may increase your growth potential, and you may gain an income stream through interest payments and dividends.

 Consider tax advantages of investing. Apart from your mortgage, your other debts likely won't provide you with any tax benefits. But you can get tax advantages by putting money into certain types of investment vehicles, such as a traditional or Roth IRA. When you invest in a traditional IRA, your contributions may be deductible, depending on your income, and your money grows on a taxdeferred basis. (Keep in mind that taxes will be due upon withdrawals, and any withdrawals you make before you reach 59½ may be subject to a 10 percent IRS penalty.) Roth IRA contributions are not deductible, but your earnings are distributed tax-free, provided you don't take withdrawals until you reach 59½ and you've had your account at least five years.

Clearly, you've got some things to ponder when choosing whether to use "extra" money to pay off debts or invest. Of course, it's not always an "either-or" situation; you may be able to tackle some debts and still invest for the future. In any case, use this money wisely – you weren't necessarily counting on it, but you can make it count for you.

Bernstein Concert

personal stories, and even audio and film clips of the maestro himself.

Experience the show that has captivated sold-out audiences across the United States since it premiered at Lincoln Center and Copland House on Friday, February 24 at 8 p.m. at the Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center, located at 2301 First Street in the historic downtown Fort Myers River District.

The Chamber Series is part of the Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center's yearly music programming. Each season, the chamber concerts bring exquisite classical music to Southwest Florida. The 2017 Chamber Series boasts an incredible line up of performers. Experience Curtis On Tour, the Ehnes Quartet, Late Night with Leonard Bernstein, and American Virtuosi. These concerts will charm your ears, and are an incredible example of chamber music's true spirit.

Bernstein was one of the world's greatest maestros and composers, but he was also an educator, an activist, and a humanitarian. Bernstein was a traditionalist who was never afraid to take risks. Best known for composing the original score to West Side Story, he was also known for his avant-garde takes on classical and chamber music. His pieces and performances have endured the test of time, making him one of the most important artists in modern music composition and conducting.

Late Night with Leonard Bernstein will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m., followed by the performance at 8 p.m. Individual concert tickets are $29 in advance or $35 at the door. Visit www.sbdac.com for more information and tickets.

Evening With The Red Sox

his year's 12th Annual Evening with the Red Sox will offer an exclusive list of auction items and special guest appearances by Major League Baseball favorites during its new street festival party, reminiscent of Boston's Yawkey Way located just outside of Fenway Park.

Taking place on Monday, February 20 at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Fort Myers, the free-flowing event will begin at 5:30 p.m. with games, live music from the Dixie Land Band and an extended cocktail reception offering complimentary beer and wine, and heavy hors d'oeuvres. In exchange for the usual sit-down dinner, the event will instead provide multiple street festival-inspired food stations to include mini hot dogs and corn dogs, pulled pork, hamburger and fried chicken sliders, Philly cheesesteaks, soft pretzel sticks, funnel cakes and popcorn. A chef-attended carving station will also be onsite in addition to a macaroni and cheese station with assorted toppings, street taco bar including chicken and pork, an assorted sushi selection table, dessert shooters and passed mini beef pot pie bites, sweet and sour meatballs, spinach artichoke bites and raspberry brie purses.

Benefiting the Boys & Girls Clubs of Lee County, the evening will also include autograph signings by current and former Boston Red Sox players including Florida Gulf Coast University graduate and newest Red Sox star pitcher Chris Sale, Bernie Carbo and former Detroit Tigers' MVP and Cy Young Award winner Denny McLain, the last pitcher to win 30 games in a season. Former Red Sox right fielder and three-time All-Star Dwight "Dewey" Evans will also be in attendance and participate in a Q&A lead by Bill Banfield, the voice behind the FGCU Eagles. Banfield will also serve as the event's emcee and auctioneer.

Last year's event included autograph signings by Blake Swihart, Travis Shaw, Devon Marrero and Matt Barnes, former players Luis Tiant, Carbo and Rich Gedman, Manager John Farrell and Dave Dombrowski, president of baseball operations for the Red Sox.

This year's featured live auction will include a Chris Sale personalized autographed #41 Red Sox jersey, two tickets to Bruno Mars: 24K Magic World Tour concert and two-night stay in Sunrise, four tickets to Tim McGraw & Faith Hill's Soul2Soul World Tour concert and one-night stay in Tampa, a four-course dinner for 10 at Shula's Steakhouse in addition to a sunset cruise, and two tickets to the 2017 Dolphins at Patriots game and twonight stay in Foxborough, Mass.

The silent auction will feature additional collector-level, hand-signed sports memorabilia, premium sporting event tickets, theme park passes, arts and theater experiences, luxury goods, and an abundance of hotel stays at some of Florida's most beautiful hotels in Miami, St. Petersburg, Sanibel Island, Tampa, Key West and more.

Online bidding will be available for registered guests on Friday, February

A raffle for an ultimate Red Sox fan experience with a trip to Boston will also be available. The package includes a two-night hotel stay and tickets for four to a pair of games at Fenway Park including seats on the famed Green Monster, a private VIP tour of the ballpark and on-field access. Only 200 raffle tickets will be sold at $50 each with all proceeds going to support the BGCLC. Tickets are available at www. bgclc.ejoinme.org/RedSoxFan.

This year's presenting sponsor is Ted Todd Insurance.

Celebrating 42 years of providing quality youth programs and brighter futures for young people in the Lee County community, the Boys & Girls Clubs of Lee County work to inspire and enable young people to realize their full potential as productive, responsible and caring citizens. The BGCLC strives to provide a safe, world-class club experience that assures success is within reach of every young person who walks through its doors. The organization envisions all of its members graduating high school with a plan for the future, demonstrating good character, citizenship while adapting a healthy lifestyle.

Sailing Regatta Profits Distributed

ach year for the past 51 years, Caloosahatchee Marching and Chowder Society has run the Summerset Sailing Regatta, involving sailing clubs from Florida's West Coast converging on Fort Myers Beach for a weekend of great racing and social events during the first weekend of October. Two years ago at the 50th regatta, there were 70 boats.

The real beneficiaries to these events are the youth in neighboring communities. Profit for boat entry fees and sponsorships is distributed back to the communities where the entries and sponsorships came from.

Last year, $9,900 was given back to young sailors and marine enthusiasts of the communities. The breakdown involved $9,000 to the Fort Myers/ Cape Coral area, including $1,000 to the Ostego Bay Foundation for youth marine education, $4,000 to the Edison Sailing Center for youth sailing travel grants and $4,000 set aside for 20 youth learn-to-sail sholarships at the Edison Sailing Center, while $900 went to Punta Gorda, Naples and Marco Island, including $300 to the Punta Gorda Sailing Club, $500 to Naples Community Sailing and $100 to Marco Island Youth Sailing.

Some examples of the regional funding include Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association - Florida Gulf Coast Chapter's REACHing Southwest Florida (Resources for Enhancing Alzheimer's Caregiver Health). This program provides training for caregivers of people with Alzheimers to reduce burden and depression, improve ability to provide self-care, provide social support, and help caregivers learn how to manage difficult behaviors in care recipients.

The Hendry School District's Clewiston Industrial Mechanics Program will focus on providing training and a link to employment in the area of industrial and farm mechanics. A huge demand for this high-skill, high-wage trade exists within the community. Providing this training will help bridge an unemployment gap as well as provide a qualified workforce locally trained

The Heights Center's Teach.Learn. Connect (TLC) program will allow parents to receive training for three hours each week on such topics as: forming positive relationships, building self-esteem, positive discipline, conflict resolution, communication, the power of encouragement, fostering responsibility and resiliency, routines and structure, interactive literacy, math and more. Training will be presented by certified professionals and will incorporate time for parents and children to work together as new skills are practiced.

The first award from the new Fund for the Environment of Southwest Florida was granted to Audubon of Western Everglades' Protection of Vital Wetlands and Habitats in Southwest Florida, which works to preserve as much Southwest Florida wetland acreage via "smart growth" where it does the least environmental damage while still providing benefit to the local economy. Building in environmentally sensitive areas jeopardizes not only the broad natural vistas many enjoy but also wetlands, which are critical for clean drinking water supplies as well as for the health of creeks, rivers, estuaries, beaches and wildlife habitat.

"Awarding this funding is just the start of our partnership with this regional mix of nonprofits," said Sarah Owen, president and CEO of the Foundation. "We will stay connected with them all year in a learning community where we share information and build our partnerships with the nonprofit and its leadership."

The Southwest Florida Community Foundation, founded in 1976, cultivates regional change for the common good through collective leadership, social innovation and philanthropy to address the evolving community needs in Lee, Collier, Charlotte, Hendry and Glades counties. Last year, it partnered with individuals, families and corporations that have created more than 400 philanthropic funds over the last 40 years. Thanks to them, the foundation's invested $5 million in grants and programs to the community. With assets of more than $93 million, it has provided more than $67 million in grants and scholarships to the communities it serves since inception. The foundation is the backbone organization for the regional FutureMakers Coalition and Lee County's Sustainability Plan. Based in Fort Myers, the Southwest Florida Community Foundation has satellite offices located on Sanibel Island, in LaBelle (Hendry County) and downtown Fort Myers.

Church Requiem

Peace Lutheran Church will welcome the Rev. David Johnson as a guest conductor at a festival choir requiem on Saturday, February 25. Rev. Johnson worked with John Leavitt to create the requiem.

This allows a deeper understanding of the work, the composer and how it will be brought to life at Peace Lutheran. The requiem follows the pattern of Brahms' A German Requiem.

This work, which includes Pianist Janet Carter, Organist Ric Jaeggi and Tenor Robert Beane, is designed to bring joy to the living through the use of psalms, hymns and a Gaelic blessing that offers the listener comfort and hope through the beautiful creation.

Texts for this work have been drawn from: Psalm 23, Psalm 27, Psalm 47. It also includes a prayer of St. Francis of Assisi, and hymns How Can I Keep from Singing by Robert Lowry and Easter Carol, a Latin antiphon of Dona nobis pacem.

This concert is made possible by a generous gift from Joyce English, a beloved festival choir alumni.

Latest In 1035s

J. Brendan Ryan, CLU, ChFC, MSFS

or many generations, Congress has granted to life insurance many tax breaks because of the benefits it brings to society. Life insurance produces emergency funds for struggling policyholders in the form of the cash value (loans or surrender). But, especially, it supplies cash for family members who have been widowed and orphaned by the untimely death of a breadwinner.

The very event that creates the need for the cash (the death) instantly creates the cash (the death benefit) in lump sum. Delivery of the check may require a few weeks but, by contract and by law, the fund immediately belongs to the named beneficiaries. So, the benefit is supplied untouched, untaxed and on time.

One of the principal tax benefits is the deferral of taxation of the growth in the cash value. This allows the gain to be credited but not taxed as long as the policy remains in force, contributing to the policy's strength. If and when the policy is surrendered, all that gain becomes taxable at ordinary income rates.

But new life insurance policies appear from time to time that improve in one way or another on the older versions. In recent memory, the introduction of an updated mortality table, reflecting improved life expectancy, has reduced the cost of new life insurance a great deal. So, for a given amount of life insurance, a 40-year-old today will pay far less than his father did at the same age.

It would be a shame if taxable gain would result from the surrender of one policy in order to take advantage of improvements available in a more modern policy. But Congress realizes that things change and that, what is a valuable instrument when originally acquired, may not remain valuable down the road. So, under certain circumstances it allows a tax-free ("Section 1035") exchange of policies. And this is even possible for policies that have outstanding loans against them.

Allow me to change topics temporarily and circle back to such exchanges momentarily.

Many people need protection against the potentially devastating cost of home-health care, assisted living, or nursing-home care, but they do not have long-term-care (LTC) insurance to rely on. I believe that coverage linked to life insurance and annuity policies is the best way to address the problem. This would be a perfect fit for many people if only they had the lump sum cash or annual cash flow to be able to afford it. But they consider their income and they consider their reserves and decide that these vehicles are simply out of reach.

However, they may have resources available in their existing permanent life insurance policies. It is possible to roll tax-free the cash values of these policies into a life insurance or annuity policy that is linked to LTC coverage and to thus get a benefit not included in the original policy. Additionally, an annuity can be rolled tax-free to a LTC-linked annuity, though not to life insurance. Again, even a life policy with an outstanding loan can be used in this way.

Take Charley, a healthy nonsmoker in his early 60s. He can take his $300,000 life insurance policy and roll it to a LTC-linked universal life insurance policy. His present cash value of $80,000, including $40,000 of untaxed gain, all goes untaxed into the new policy of $300,000. He now has the same death benefit as before. But he also has as much as $300,000 in LTC benefits available to him. And, he can draw out those untaxed dollars tax-free for LTC needs. (Any dollars consumed for LTC reduces the death benefit dollar-for-dollar.) And perhaps he will not have any more premiums to pay.

If the rollover amount is not enough to carry the new policy for life, Charlie can reduce the face amount to bring it in line with what the rollover can pay for. Or he can choose to put in some additional lump sum or a series of annual premiums. And, if he can afford it, he can even increase the amount of the life insurance and LTC benefit

This technique can create LTC insurance protection that people in some cases had given up on.

Business Ethics Competition

Lutgert College of Business recently announced that students Spencer Aleman, Kersees Charles, Austin Engle and Cindy Orozco have qualified for the FGCU Ethics Case Competition Team. They will now represent the college at the 3rd annual Southeast Regional Business Ethics Case Competition at Stetson University on March 2 and 3. The students will compete against several universities in the Southeastern United States including Wake Forest University, Samford University, Bethune-Cookman University and the University of Florida.

FGCU Lutgert College of Business faculty Craig Randall and Uncommon Friends Endowed Chair Professor of Ethics Eric Dent will direct the team.

"It is a great opportunity for the students to showcase their skills and abilities at this premier event," said Dr. Randall. "Since it is our first time, we don't know the ropes yet, but we plan to start a tradition of FGCU excellence at this annual event."

The students received the Dakota Access Pipeline: Boon or Boondoggle case on February 6 and have been diligently preparing their response, which includes a professional presentation and an executive summary.

"This is a complex case with multiple legal, financial and ethical dimensions," said Dr. Dent. "The real case has been very challenging. I'm confident our team will develop a response that we would be proud to have presented to national leaders."

Sponsor Named For Fundraiser

ommunity Cooperative recently announced Suncoast Credit Union as the presenting sponsor of the 2017 Empty Bowls fundraiser. The event is set to take place on Saturday, March 25 at the Alliance for the Arts.

In addition to Suncoast Credit Union, the Lee Arts Education Program will also be collaborating with this year's event to raise hunger awareness through art. One-of-a-kind handcrafted ceramic bowls made by Lee County school children will be available for purchase at the event as a reminder of those that go hungry right here in Lee County.

"We are very excited to bring Empty Bowls back for the fourth year in a row," said Tracey Galloway, CEO of Community Cooperative. "This event is crucial to raising money and awareness for our children-based programs, the largest and fasting growing need our organization faces."

This year's event will also feature a soup cook-off, soup sampling, family friendly activities, dance performances by local schools and organizations and more to support Community Cooperative's mission to end hunger and homelessness in Lee County. Admission is free with a recommended non-perishable donation and soup sampling will be available for purchase. Money raised at the event will benefit Community Cooperative's Healthy School Pantry and FLIP (Food Literacy In Preschool) programs.

To register as a participant of the soup cook-off, or for more information about sponsorship, contact Nicole Rieg, community relations coordinator, at Nicole@CommunityCooperative.com or call 332-7687 ext. 101.

Community Cooperative is an innovative nonprofit 501(c) 3 organization made up of social service entrepreneurs fighting to end homelessness and hunger in our community. The agency provides more than 14,000 meals each month through its Community Cafés and Marketplace and Meals on Wheels programs. Community Cooperative offers homeless and comprehensive case management services through its Social & Education Resource Centers and oversees emergency mobile food pantries as well as Healthy School Pantries and Food Literacy in Preschool (FLIP) through its Growing Health Kids Programs.

A proud United Way partner, Community Cooperative serves Fort Myers and the greater Lee County area, including Bonita Springs, Cape Coral, Lehigh Acres and Fort Myers Beach. Community Cooperative works in close partnership with the Harry Chapin Food Bank and the School District of Lee County as well as collaborating with fellow community and service groups, churches, businesses and community support organizations.

top colleges. Only 767 students were awarded the National College Match scholarship. The students are guaranteed a full, four-year scholarship, including tuition, room and board, and other expenses.

After an extensive application and interview process, both Baldassarre and Ruiz were matched with their first choice colleges.

"I chose the University of Virginia because I admire the principles it was founded on – Thomas Jefferson's belief in the pursuit of knowledge being neverending and in an equality of ideas,' said Baldassarre. "I plan to pursue a degree in biomedical engineering and a degree in Chinese studies, or perhaps a minor in East Asian humanities with a concentration in Korean."

Ruiz chose to attend the University of Chicago and plans to study political science with a minor in human rights.

"I want to attend U of C because of their overall attitude toward learning and higher education and their history of commitment to free speech," said Ruiz. "I believe that this is incredibly important, especially in a polarized nation where many will only listen to those with the same views as themselves.'

Both students are grateful and honored to have received the scholarship.

"The QuestBridge National College Match scholarship requires a high level of academic achievement and is an extremely prestigious recognition for a student to earn," said Dr. Brian Botts, principal, FSWC-Lee. "To have two of our students receive it in a single year is extraordinary, and it proves the quality of FSWC-Lee's faculty, staff and academic instruction as well as our students' commitment to education. We are extremely proud of Sabrina and Denise."₩

Volunteers Build Habitat Homes

n a chilly Saturday morning, volunteers Gerry and Sharon Trantina along with their family and members of their church, Chapel by the Sea, braved the cold to raise the walls of the Trantina's third sponsored Habitat for Humanity home in Lee County.

"Wall raisings are so unique. It is a wonderful feeling to see all the volunteers begin with just a blank slab and, by the end of the day, you can already see what the house will look like. You meet the future homeowners and realize it's not just a house, but a home that leads to a better life," Gerry said.

The three bedroom, two bath home will provide a family of four with a safe and decent place to call home. Gerry has also dedicated the past 15 years to volunteering with Habitat. He and Chapel by the Sea volunteers meet weekly to install the vinyl siding on the homes. With the volunteer partnership, Habitat is able to fulfill its mission to build homes, community and hope.

Book Review

The Wrong Side Of Goodbye

by Di Saggau

'ichael Connelly's Harry Bosch novels have a way of referring to earlier ones in the series. For this reason, I am glad that I read both The Burning Room and The Crossing before picking up The Wrong Side of Goodbye. Connelly is a master at storytelling and mystery plotting. As the book opens, Bosch still faces hostilities from the Los Angeles Police Department because he won a lawsuit against it for forcing him into early retirement. Now he has a new police job, working for the City of San Fernando, a small enclave inside Los Angeles with its own small police force. A perfect hide-out for the a loner like Harry.

He takes a commission from a very old and very wealthy recluse Whitney Vance. Fifty years ago, Vance was in love with a Mexican girl named Vibiana. She became pregnant and the Vance family separated him from her forever. Now in his mid-80s, Vance has no known heirs and wants Harry to find out if there are any. Since the book begins with a Vietnam-era prologue in which a young man, shot down in a helicopter, cries out the name "Vibiana," we are sure there are heirs somewhere.

In addition to working on the Vance-Vibiana case, Harry is also working on a rapist-murderer case about a man who gets into women's houses by cutting window screens. The case is called "Screen Cutter," a nickname for the masked attacker who has assaulted at least four women in the area. Readers experience the stressful chaos of Harry's overloaded and divided life. One minute he's bending the rules and using law enforcement databases to check listings for Vibiana; the next he's chasing down leads to find the Screen Cutter.

There is a wonderful passage in the book where Bosch loses himself in a memory of the singer Connie Stevens, performing a Christmas show in 1969 for wounded servicemen on a hospital ship in the South China Sea. She's there with Bob Hope and Harry is there, too. It's a powerful moment. One of the things that Connelly seems to love best is Los Angeles's freeway system and this book really takes Harry traveling. The Wrong Side of Goodbye is swift, unpredictable and thrilling. 举

School Smart

Shelley, My daughter who is in fourth grade was just identified with a learning disability. She knows that she will have some special teachers who will help her, but she's afraid of talking about this with her friends and others whom she worries will judge her. How can I help her?

Elena V., Cape Coral

Elena,

You have asked a very important question. Kids need to learn how to talk about their learning disabilities and as a parent, you can teach them how to do this. For a child to open up about learning differently is challenging, but with practice, the rewards can be significant.

Experts say that a very short explanation such as "I learn differently," can set the stage for understanding. Children with learning issues must learn how to speak up and these three simple but powerful words can lead to discussions with peers, teachers and others that will help them begin to understand the child's learning difficulties.

When you're a child who's struggling to stay afloat, drawing attention to yourself is scary. It's very understandable that a child would be reluctant to open up about her learning needs, so support from home can help get the conversation started. You can model good advocacy skills by talking with your child and letting her see you talk to others about learning differences frankly and comfortably.

If your child is uncomfortable talking to others about her learning issues, have a conversation about what's bothering her. Frequently children feel embarrassed or ashamed of being "different." Take this as an opportunity to reassure her and talk through her fears or doubts. You'll both feel better and you'll have the information you need to support her emotionally, as well as academically. Help her to come up with a script to explain her situation. When she feels ready, practice what she's going to say a few times at home. This way you can be sure she's sharing useful information and give her a chance to rehearse in a safe, non-judgmental environment.

It's also very important that your child has a strong understanding of her specific learning disability. She should be able to name it and describe it. Not all kids with learning issues are the same, so encourage your child to spell out the ways her LD affects her personally. For example, at school, even though teachers should have the information, she can say, "I have an auditory processing disorder." "It's hard for me to hear when there's a lot of background noise, so sometimes I miss parts of the lecture." If your child has habits or strategies she uses to manage her LD that don't necessarily look like what they are, encourage her to let the teacher know. For example, "I pay attention best when my hands are occupied, so I draw all through class." This type of detailed information will give teachers a head start on providing the best support.

Make sure that your child knows her strengths as well. Encourage her not to just recite a list of things she can't do, but to talk about things she's good at, too, and her interests. This will boost her self-esteem, and it may help the teacher place her in activities that allow her to demonstrate her strengths.

Teaching your child how to speak up about her learning issues and helping her develop the confidence she needs to advocate for herself will lead to personal and academic success. You'll be giving her the tools she needs for a brighter and better future.

Healing Bouquet Of Flowers

by Suzy Cohen, RPh

ear Readers: For Valentine's Day, I know most of us ladies want some chocolate. I love chocolate myself, the darker the better. You don't need me to tell you about the health benefits of dark chocolate, there are probably 100 posts about it being uploaded as I write this. So this year, I am thinking outside the Moonstruck box!

Let's consider another traditional standby, flowers. Not just any flowers, flowers with medicinal power. You see, many of these beautiful and sweet-smelling plants are also powerful healers that deserve a place on your natural medicine cabinet. You can put together a healing 'bouquet' of remedies made out of flowers. It's creative and sure to win a special space in your Valentine's heart, especially if he or she is into health and wellness. Here are some ideas to build your bouquet:

Chamomile: This is a sweet little white flower with a big yellow center that, when dried and steeped as tea, is also a widely hailed sedative. Add a box of chamomile tea to help you and your Valentine unwind and fall asleep together.

Echinacea: This popular garden plant is hardy and has great antiviral properties. It is known to help you reduce symptoms and shorten the duration of colds and flu. A 2015 study by researchers in the Czech Republic found that a hot drink made of Echinacea extracts was as effective as Tamiflu at reducing flu symptoms, with far fewer side effects.

Roses: It's everyone's Valentine favorite. Consider rosewater, which is created when rose petals are steam distilled. The end result is a beautiful smelling rose toner that I use to spritz my face... like all the time. Rose hips have anti-inflammatory properties so, in addition to smelling divine, it's good for reducing facial redness, whether from acne, rosacea, cold weather or dry skin.

Rose hips: Rose hips are the fruit of rose bushes and these little scarlet, globeshaped beauties are packed with vitamin C. I keep them right beside the stove, and steep two teaspoons to the water which I use for green tea. It adds a strong antioxidant boost and makes my skin more youthful. You can buy dried rose hips at most health food stores and online.

Lavender: Lavender is a tiny purple flower that packs a healing punch. Put a half cup in the middle of a pretty handkerchief and tie up the ends to make your Valentine a sachet. At night, take a shower and sprinkle some of the essential oil onto your shower floor. A 2015 study found that dialysis patients reported a significant reduction in needle insertion pain over patients who had no intervention or who received a placebo.

So, go make your lover a beautiful bouquet and choose your flowers wisely based upon their medicinal purpose. From now on, Valentine's or not, you will always think of flowers with a new healing perspective. Unlike chocolate, they don't go straight to your thighs.

Create The Love Hormone

by Karen L. Sémmelman, Certified EEM, JD, AAML (03-01)

Tt is the season of romance, of sharing our love with those close to us. Let's understand why hugging is so important in creating a strong bond with loved ones. Are you a hugger or an avoider? After reading this article, hopefully you will join the ranks of the huggers. Why? -- Because hugging increases the levels of oxytocin, known as the "love hormone." Sounds good, doesn't it? At an energy medicine workshop on hormones, the presenter reminded us of the power of hugging and the famous quote by psychotherapist Virgina Satir, who states: "We need four hugs a day for survival. We need eight hugs a day for maintenance. We need 12 hugs a day for growth.

Our auric field which surrounds the body is comprised of seven layers, like the Russian Doll sets. When we hug someone and move into each other's auric fields, we are sharing energy. The skin contains networks of tiny pressure centers that sense touch and then connect to the brain through the vagus nerve. This nerve winds its way through the body, connecting to organs, to all the chakras, to the gut (our second brain) and to the heart. The nerve is connected to oxytocin receptors and thus stimulation of the vagus triggers an increase in oxytocin, which in turn "leads to the cascade of health benefits" and a feeling of bliss with well-being.

The bottom line is that the more physical touching through hugging, the more oxytocin produced, resulting in powerful health-giving properties and good Oxytocin is released by the pituitary gland. The pituitary gland works hand in hand with the spleen organ. Spleen's energy is the first energy used by triple warmer when under stress. So the more hugs, the more spleen is calmed and the more triple warmer is calmed, resulting in a boost to your physical and emotional well-being.

Reach out to your spouse, children, friends, family and pets! Given our celebration of Valentine's Day, what a great way to remember this romantic holiday daily.

If you have a question, email Karen at SemmEnergyCenter@gmail.com or visit www.semmelmanenergy.com. EEM does not diagnose or cure illness, but working with subtle energies of the body has been shown to help many conditions.☆

Foundation Scholarships Available

The deadline for the Southwest Florida Community Foundation's scholarship application process is fast approaching with less than two weeks left to apply.

Closing on March 3, the scholarship application process is available through the foundation's online portal at www.floridacommunity.com/ scholarships. Students may apply for multiple scholarships and upload transcripts, SAT/ACT scores, letters of recommendation and the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) report, as well as access an online tutorial about how to create and submit the online application.

Approximately $500,000 in scholarship money for the 2017-18 school year is available through more than 50 scholarships for local high school students, undergraduate and graduate students from Charlotte, Collier, Glades, Hendry and Lee counties.

Need-based scholarships require the FAFSA form, which is available at www.fafsa.gov. Educators, mentors, parents and students can find resources to complete the FAFSA form through the local FAFSA first website recently launched by the FutureMakers Coalition at www.fafsafirst.org/. The goal of the FutureMakers Coalition is to transform the workforce by increasing the number of Southwest Florida residents with degrees, certificates and other highquality credentials by the year 2025.

With the partner help of individuals, families and corporations who have created more than 400 philanthropic funds, the Southwest Florida Community Foundation has invested $5 million in grants and programs to the community. With assets of $93 million, it has provided more than $67 million in grants and scholarships to the communities it serves since inception. It is the backbone organization for the regional FutureMakers Coalition and Lee County's Sustainability Plan.

Based in Fort Myers, the community foundation has satellite offices located in Sanibel Island, LaBelle (Hendry County), and downtown Fort Myers. For more information, visit www. FloridaCommunity.com or call 274-5900.⇔

Free Autism Screening

olisano Children's Hospital of Southwest Florida, in partnership with Ronald McDonald House Charities of Southwest Florida, will offer a free autism spectrum disorder screening for toddlers 18 months to age 5 on February 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Wellness Center of Cape Coral at 609 SE 13 Court.

The monthly screenings are held on the Ronald McDonald Care Mobile

It is estimated that one in every 68 children is diagnosed with some form of autism Spectrum disorder, making it more common than childhood cancer, juvenile diabetes and pediatric AIDS combined.

Medical consultants for the project stress that an early diagnosis can make a vast difference for toddlers and their families. They say early intensive behavioral intervention can make an immense difference not just in the development of the child, but in their families as well.

The ASD screening is conducted by the Golisano Children's Hospital of Southwest Florida and administered by an advanced registered nurse practitioner, who has extensive training and experience in typical child development and developmental disorders.

A physician referral is not required. To schedule a screening, call 343-6838.

Trauma Center Hosts Survivors Support Group

rauma, by its very nature, is sudden, unexpected and often life-changing for victims and their families. A traumatic accident can leave a patient with serious injuries to his or her spinal cord or brain, or he or she may even lose a limb. These injuries, along with the emotional and psychological side effects of a traumatic injury affect the entire

The Trauma Center at Lee Memorial Hospital offers the Survivors Support Group to assist patients and families as they navigate recovery from trauma. The group is open to anyone whose life has been affected by trauma. This month's meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 21, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. in the Medical Staff Conference Room at Lee Memorial Hospital.

"The support group offers survivors, family members and caregivers the opportunity to meet and connect with others who have experienced traumatic injuries," explained Shannon Bradley, medical social worker and trauma outreach coordinator. "Life changes after a traumatic injury, and it helps knowing people are there who understand and have also experienced similar fears, anxieties, pain and feelings of loss."

Moving forward, the Survivors Support Group will meet at the same time and location, but on the second Tuesday of each month.

For more information or to register to attend, contact Shannon Bradley at 343-3474 or Shannon.Bradley@

- 3/4 cup Mexican rice
- 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
- 2 pinches salt
- 2 pinches pepper
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 3 cups cornmeal
- 2 tablespoons olive oil

Preparation:

Place the zucchini flowers in cold water to open and make the preparation easier. In a large mixing bowl, place the rice, all the chopped and grated ingredients, half of the olive oil and lemon juice, and a pinch of salt and pepper. Mix well. With a small spoon, take small amounts of the stuffing and fill the zucchini flowers. Fold over the flower ends to seal the stuffing inside. Heat a sauté pan over medium-high

My Stars ★★★

FOR WEEK OF FEBRUARY 20, 2017

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your ideas are finally reaching those who can appreciate them. But don't expect any immediate reactions. That will come later. Meanwhile, a personal matter needs your TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your energy levels are rising, and you're feeling restless and eager to get into some activity, whether it's for profit or just for fun. In either case, the aspects are highly favorable, so go for it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A relationship seems to be winding down from passionate to passive. It's up to you to decide what the next step will be. But don't wait too long to take the initiative. Delay could create more problems.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A decision looms. But be very sure that this is what you really want before you sign or say anything. Once you act, there'll be little or no wiggle room for any adjustments.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Money matters improve, but you still need to be cautious with your spending. Also, set aside that Leonine pride for a bit and apologize for contributing to that misunderstanding.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A tempting financial situation could make the usually unflappable Virgo rush in before checking things out. Be alert to possible hidden problems. Get the facts before you act.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) It's nice to know that you're finally getting due credit for your efforts. You also should know that new opportunities will follow. A family member brings important news.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Any uncertainty that begins to cloud an impending decision could signal a need to re-examine your reasons for wanting to take on this commitment.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You benefit from taking time out of your currently hectic schedule to do more contemplation or meditation. This will help re-energize you, both in body and soul

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Nursing hurt feelings can zap the energies of even the usually self-confident Sea Goat. Best advice: Move forward. Success is the best balm for a painful ego

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A display of temperament surprises you, as well as those around you. It could be all that pressure you're under. Consider letting someone help you see it through.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Some things don't seem to be working out as you'd hoped. Don't fret. Instead, take some time out to reassess your plans and see where changes could be made.

BORN THIS WEEK: You enjoy traveling and meeting people. You are especially good with children and would make an excellent teacher.

THIS WEEK IN HISTORY

- On Feb. 26, 1919, the Grand Canyon is established as a national park. American geologist John Wesley Powell, who popularized the term "Grand Canyon" in the 1870s, was the first person to travel the entire length of the gorge in 1869. The harrowing voyage was made in four rowboats.
- On Feb. 25, 1938, the city of Miami gets its first drive-in movie theater. At their peak in the late 1950s and early 1960s, there were some 4,000 drive-ins across
- On Feb. 23, 1945, during the bloody Battle for Iwo Jima, U.S. Marines take the crest of Mount Suribachi. The iconic image of six Marines raising the American flag on the peak was taken by photographer Joe Rosenthal.
- On Feb. 22, 1959, Lee Petty defeats Johnny Beauchamp in a photo finish at the just-opened Daytona International Speedway in Florida to win the first Daytona 500. The race was so close that Beauchamp was initially declared the
- On Feb. 20, 1985, in a highly controversial vote, the Irish government defies the powerful Catholic Church and approves the sale of contraceptives, a major turning point in Irish history. Up until 1979, Irish law prohibited the importation and sale of contraceptives.

On Feb. 24, 1991, after six weeks of intensive bombing against Iraq and its armed forces, U.S.-led coalition forces launch a ground invasion of Kuwait and Iraq. By the end of the day, the Iraqi army had effectively folded, 10,000 of its troops were held as prisoners and a U.S. air base had been established deep inside Iraq

STRANGE BUT TRUE

• It was Rose Bird, the first female chief justice of the California Supreme Court, who made the following sage observation: "We have probed the earth, excavated it, burned it, ripped things from it, buried things in it, chopped down its forests, leveled its hills, muddied its waters, and dirtied its air. That does not fit my definition of a good tenant. If we were here on a month-to-month basis, we would have been evicted long ago.'

• Have you ever heard of an "oreo' cow? It's officially known as the Belted Galloway, a breed of cattle that originated in Scotland. A typical specimen is black with a broad white band around its middle.

 You might be surprised to learn that London Bridge has never actually fallen down. The bridge has had several iterations since the first one was built in 1170; wooden buildings constructed on the bridges have burned down, and some of the bridges have been torn down, but none has ever fallen of its own accord.

• The paintings of Dutch master Rembrandt are so detailed that modern specialists were able to diagnose a basal cell carcinoma -- a kind of skin cancer - by examining a portrait of the artist's mother.

• The Guinness Book of World Records (now known simply as Guinness World Records) has earned a spot in its own roster: It is officially the best-selling copyrighted book of all time, with sales of more than 100 million copies in 100 different countries and 37 languages.

• According to ancient Chinese philosopher Confucius, an ideal meal is made up of one-fourth meat and threefourths vegetables.

Second Chance Fund Helps Dogs

Bear

pair of Gulf Coast Humane Society (GCHS) shelter dogs are on the road to recovery after having surgery. The surgeries were made possible by the GCHS' Second Chance Fund, which pays for the procedures and rehabilitation the animals have to go through.

Harvey, a two-year-old American Staffordshire, came into GCHS as a transfer from Clewiston Animal Services. He was diagnosed with a dislocated ankle, making it very painful for Harvey to walk normal. He was transferred to Specialized Veterinary Services (SVS) for surgery on January 31, and was back to GCHS that same day to start his rehab.

'We had to partially fuse his ankle (joint), but the prognosis for Harvey is very good," said Dr. Jason Eisele, DACVS, who performed the surgery at SVS. "When the main joint is not involved, like Harvey's, it's always a better prognosis. He should have little to no long-term effects and should be able to run, jump and play normally.

The second dog who underwent surgery at SVS, which was funded by the Second Chance Fund, was Bear, a 10-month old Great Pyrenees, who suffered a deformity in one of his hind legs. He had a laterally luxated patellar, which was dislocated on the outside of his leg. The deformity caused a severe limp when  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{Bear}}$ walked, so the decision was made to perform surgery to correct his walk. His surgery was performed over a month ago at SVS. Since then, he has been in foster care during his rehab, in which he is getting used to walking on his fixed leg.

Bear had more deformity to the joint than normal," Dr. Eisele said. "Bear won't need revision surgery, which is good, and his implants are holding up well. There will always be a difference from his normal leg, and we expect Bear to have a gait for the rest of his life, which won't be painful. But his knee should be stable for the rest of his life.

The cost of Harvey's surgery ranged in the $1,600 area, while Bear's cost $1,400.

These surgeries could not be performed without the Second Chance Fund," said GCHS Executive Director, Jennifer Galloway. "It's a vital fund for these animals who really have nowhere else to turn. It provides them a literal second chance at life. We also give a big thank you to SVS and Dr. Eisele for doing such a great service and work on these animals.

There is always a need for donations for the Second Chance Fund, because it is used on a normal basis for the animals that come in needing it.

To donate directly to the GCHS Second Chance Fund, go to www.gulfcoasthumanesociety.org/ second-chance-fund.html.The website also has other Second Chance Fund stories, which all have turned out well for the recipient.

Call 332-0364 or visit the shelter at 2010 Arcadia Street in Fort Myers.

Harvey is still in need of foster care during his rehab. To offer your foster services to Harvey or any of animal who needs fostering, contact GCHS Foster Coordinator Alyssa Dudley at foster@ gulfcoasthumanesociety.org.☆
