Captiva Island Yacht Club Junior Sailing Camp Returns

Junior Sailing Camp members operating their vessels at the Captiva Island Yacht Club

The Captiva Island Yacht Club will use Optimist Prams, Sunfish and Lasers, International Class sailboats, in their upcoming Junior Sailing Camps for kids 8 to 15 of all experience levels this summer. Membership in the yacht club is not necessary for participation.

Session 1 will be held from Monday, June 15 to Friday, June 26 while Session 2 will take place from Monday, July 13 to Friday, July 24. Camp will be held at the CIYC, located next to Tween Waters Inn on Captiva Drive.

“CIYC will use the U.S. Sailing Association’s curriculum at our Junior Sailing Camp,” said lead instructor Marshall Long. “In a few short weeks, campers can graduate from learning on Optimist Prams to sailing Olympic racing class Lasers.”

Beginning sailors will learn to rig and sail their own Optimist Prams, single-handed sailing dinghies approved by the International Sailing Federation for youngsters. The original Pram was designed in 1947 by Clark Mills of Clearwater, Florida, a member of the Optimist Clubs of America. Mills designed a small, stable and responsive boat that could – back then – be constructed for $50. This low cost opened opportunities in the sport to many children.

At the recent London Olympics, 80 percent of competing skippers learned to sail on Optimist Prams.

Once campers master the basics of sailing, they can graduate to Lasers. These competitive racing boats – sturdy, simple to rig and sail single-handed – are very fast. The 13-foot Lasers became an Olympic class in 1996 and are raced all over the world.

It is important for young people to learn how to harness the power of the wind and experience the joy of controlling a sailboat. It’s a sport they can enjoy all through their lives.

BIG ARTS Awards Scholarships To Local Students

BIG ARTS to offers scholarship awards to seven area students to encourage their further artistic development. Presented each spring, the BIG ARTS Scholarship Award Program supports students who have professional goals to pursue visual arts, music, dance, theater, literary arts or film. The Scholarship Award Program is supported by proceeds from BIG ARTS events throughout the year, and by the generosity of Patricia and Davis Thurber and Deborah and John La Gorce.

In order to be eligible for an award, students must be a high school senior planning to study the arts or a college student currently enrolled in an accredited undergraduate arts program, and be a current resident of Lee County or currently employed (or have a parent employed) on Sanibel or Captiva for at least the past two years. Winners are vetted by a scholarship committee through a robust application process that includes a student essay, references, transcripts, and an interview, as well as examples of their work.

“We had fewer applicants this year, but the cream has clearly risen to the top,” said committee chair Ran Niehoff. “The level of talent and passion was high across the spectrum, and it was truly a blessing to become acquainted with these future ‘stars of the arts.’ The entire committee felt privileged to participate in what one of our members described as ‘the single-most rewarding activity of our life on the islands’-namely, to gather to review the applications and to interview this group of bright, energetic and talented young people.”

This year’s awards, totaling $14,500, will be given to:

- Valerie Hernandez, Illustration, Ringling College of Art and Design
- Isabella LeVan, Music Therapy, Florida State University
- Chloe Lewis, Painting, Maryland Institute College of Art
- Martina Long, Musical Theater, Florida Southern College

CARD OF THANKS

To City Manager Judie Zimomra and Police Chief Bill Tomlinson: I wanted to compliment you on the fine job your traffic controllers have done during this incredibly busy season. They function as "Island Ambassadors" in their critical positions at major intersections and for many visitors, it is their first human interaction in a long line of stalled traffic. The increased number of intersections with traffic control this year was much appreciated.

I am sure the shifts for your staff were long, hot and took an immense amount of concentration (not to mention a bit dangerous), but I never observed any one of the traffic directors lose their cool.

My wife, Salli, mentioned that the frequent times she pedaled past the Periwinkle and Casa Ybel intersection, she always heard polite words used with the many bikers that crossed. Friendly reminders of proper lighting must have been given also as visitors came into Billy's Bike Shop to discuss which lights were legally required for night riding.

I know many citizens are unhappy when the traffic is so congested and the feeling of losing our island to visitors is shared loudly. I try to look at the situation from another view, knowing that it is temporary and soon our island will be much less crowded. The fact that so many visitors chose to ride bikes with their families and experience the good nature our island offers reminds me why this island is such a vacation destination. I am grateful that I relocated here in the mid-80s to start my career and I am so thankful that I am here and my children and grandchildren are also able to enjoy the wonderful experiences of a Sanibel lifestyle.

Thank you all for your contributions to the safety of and concern for all drivers, walkers, runners and cyclists this season.

What's Cooking At The House

What do year-round residents do for fun on summer evenings? On Wednesday, May 27 at 6 p.m., bring your special appetizer, salad, entrée or dessert and head for The Community House for a potluck dinner and a relaxing evening of camaraderie and fun. It's BYOB with water and coffee supplied by the House.

Chef Jarred Harris, formerly chef at The Sanctuary Golf Club, is back from England and will present easy ways to prepare fresh Florida fish. And you'll get to sample that fish that Billy Kirkland and buddies are catching especially for you.

Be thinking about your favorite dish to share and if you are willing, bring the recipe and the staff will start a House Recipe Box.

All are invited to hear more about the House Kitchen Guild, a new Community House group that brings together people with all sorts of food interests. Cooking, canning, growing, harvesting and education are some of the ideas that are being discussed as possible directions for the group to take.

Also, you will get an overview of the plans for redevelopment of The Community House. Become involved as we all look forward to the 2016 remodel and a large commercial kitchen where our food passion can become a reality.

Although this is a free event, reservations will be appreciated for planning purposes. Call your friends, then call The Community House office at 472-2155. Watch for this ongoing What's Cooking column in the newspaper.✪

Love That Dress! 7 Fundraising And Dress Collection Events Announced

Planning for this year's Love that Dress! 7 is under way, and organizers have revamped the traditional collection parties leading up to the main shopping event in August.

"Building on the momentum of this successful fundraiser, we realized we needed to streamline the events leading up to the big event," said Sandy Stilwell, board chair for PACE Center for Girls. "Signifying our seventh year, we will have just seven signature dress collection fundraisers strategically hosted at locations across Lee County prior to the main event."

This year's main event will take place on Wednesday, August 26 at the Embassy Suites in Estero, located at 10450 Corkscrew Commons Drive. In the months leading up to the event, members of the Southwest Florida community are asked to donate new and gently "loved" dresses and accessories at collection parties and convenient drop-off locations across the county. Collection parties hosted by generous local businesses and organizations are a great way to connect with community members and sample the local fare, all while collecting inventory, raising funds and generating awareness for the main event.

During the main event, attendees will enjoy the huge inventory with friends, a silent auction full of unique packages and cocktails. Suite and VIP ticket holders are granted access to early shopping, private dressing rooms, clothing holds, express check-out service, complimentary adult beverages, hors d'oeuvres and a private selection of decadent chocolates.

All proceeds from Love That Dress! 7 will benefit the PACE Center for Girls of Lee County. PACE is a non-residential program targeting the unique needs of girls, ages 12 to 18, facing challenges such as physical and sexual abuse, domestic violence, substance abuse, foster care, neglect, death of a parent, family history of incarceration and declining grades.

This year's dress collection parties scheduled to date include the 6th annual Spadathon at SPADA Salon & Day Spa, located at 13161 McGregor Blvd. in Fort Myers, on Tuesday, May 19; SS Hookers, located at 17501 Harbour Pointe Drive in Fort Myers, on Thursday, June 11; Miromar Outlets, located at 10801 Corkscrew Road in Estero, on Wednesday, June 24; Rum Runners Restaurant, located at 5848 Cape Harbour Drive in Cape Coral, on Wednesday, July 8; Goodwill Boutique on First, located at 2401 First Street in downtown Fort Myers, and The Firestone After Party, located at 2224 Bay Street in downtown Fort Myers, both on Thursday, July 16; and the Lucky Number 7 Wrap Up Party at Six Bends Harley-Davidson, located at 9501 Thunder Road in Fort Myers, on Friday, August 7.

Love That Dress! 7 event chair and co-chair are Shelley Starner, assistant general manager of Miromar Outlets, and Jennifer Pfenninger, director of sales at Embassy Suites in Estero.

Last year, nearly 4,000 new and gently loved dresses were sold at the shopping event, raising more than $125,000 for PACE.

"Each year, we look forward to Love That Dress!," said Meg M. Geltner, executive director of PACE Center for Girls. "Our collection party hosts and Love That Dress! committee have a wonderful series of events lined up for us this year."

According to Geltner, this year's Love That Dress! collection goal is to receive 4,000 new and gently loved dresses and raise more than $120,000.

Anyone interested in hosting a collection party in support of Love That Dress! 7 may contact Allyson Ross, special events associate at PACE, at Allyson.Ross@PACECenter.org.

For more information about the event, call 470-7548, visit www.pacecenter.org/lee or search "Love That Dress Lee" on Facebook.✪

City Financial Statements Available Online

The City of Sanibel Comprehensive Annual Financial Report for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2014, is now available online on the city's website, www.mysanibel.com.

The city's financial statements have been audited by CliftonLarsonAllen, LLP, a licensed certified public accounting firm.

The independent audit was performed to provide reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

According to a release from city officials, "The independent audit involved examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements; assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. The independent auditor concluded, based upon the audit, that there was a reasonable basis for rendering an unmodified ("clean") opinion that the city's financial statements for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2014, are fairly presented in conformity with GAAP (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles)."

Management's discussion and analysis (MD&A) immediately follows the independent auditor's report and provides a narrative introduction, overview and analysis of the basic financial statements. The MD&A complements the letter of transmittal and should be read in conjunction with it.

In addition, the following city financial documents also remain available:

- Comprehensive Annual Financial Reports for every year 2002-14;
- Annual budgets for every year from 2006 to 2014; and
- Each approved budget amendment from 2011 to the present.*

San-Cap Optimists Club Offers College Scholarships

The Sanibel-Captiva Optimist Club is pleased to offer two four-year college scholarships to 2015 graduating seniors. The new scholarships replace two of the current six (since two current scholarship recipients are graduating college). Each scholarship is $1,750 per year ($7,000 total). The competition for the scholarships is open to all seniors graduating from high schools in Lee County in 2015.

Applications are available at all Lee County high schools (see your guidance counselor), at Bailey's General Store and at Sanibel Café, both on Sanibel, and on the San-Cap Optimist Club's website, www.sancapoptimist.org). Additional information is available via email at sancapoptimist@comcast.net or from Stan Howard at 472-0836. Scholarship applications must be postmarked no later than Thursday, June 11. The scholarship committee plans to make the final decision by the end of June.

L. Urban: "Poor indeed is the garden in which birds find no homes," linking Ball's love of nature with providing homes for those in need.

"Over our 45 years as part of Sanibel as a visitor and full-time resident, I have found that one of the keys to a diverse and vibrant community is Community Housing and Resources," Ball said. "I believe it will continue to meet the needs of this community over the coming years."

Ball first visited Sanibel in 1968 and he and his family made it their permanent home in 1988. During his time here, Ball served as chair of the city's Parks and Recreation Committee and of its Five-Year Budget Committee. He is a past president of the board of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation and of the Committee of the Islands. Ball came to the CHR board in July of 2001.

"Armand has been a driving force behind Community Housing and Resources," said CHR board president Richard Johnson. "His institutional knowledge, experience, and insights into our mission will be difficult to replace. As our Secretary, he had effectively helped to keep our leadership team on track, especially this President. Armand will be missed by all, but he has left an indelible mark on our organization that will not be lost. Thank you, my friend."

Upon presenting the award to the City of Sanibel, Donna Lovejoy, Southwest Florida Finance Officers Association board member, stated "The receipt of this budget award demonstrates a commitment to excellence and transparency. Users of these winning budget documents, such as credit rating agencies, government officials and taxpayers, have access to a high quality report with information to decision making."

When a Distinguished Budget Presentation Award is granted to an entity a Certificate of Recognition is also presented to the individual or individuals designated as being primarily responsible for having achieved the award. Doc Ford's Resolution Passed Unanimously

by Jeff Lysiak

The resolution to approve both a conditional use permit and a development permit which paves the way for a new Doc Ford's Rum Bar & Grille to be constructed near the intersection of Tarpon Bay Road and Island Inn Road was formally approved by the planning commission at their meeting on Tuesday.

The conditional use permit grants the property owner Tarpon Bay Road, LLC permission to establish a 9,185-square-foot dine-in and carry-out restaurant – to be located on a 2.4-acre parcel located at 2500 Island Inn Road – with 214 seats while the development permit allows construction of a commercial building including 122 off-street parking spaces, onsite drainage and other various site improvements.

Last month, commissioners approved both permits for the eatery after listening to more than six hours of testimony from the applicant and the city's planning department staff as well as dozens of audience members who filled MacKenzie Hall beyond capacity.

On Tuesday, with public comment on the resolution closed, only 13 people attended the meeting.

During discussions on the resolution, commissioner Chuck Ketteman's prior request to have a condition on noise and odor control at the restaurant added was brought up. According to Planning Department Director Jim Jordan, his office had received a new construction plan from the applicant which included the installation of acoustic tiles.

"It seems that they are addressing those items," said Jordan, whose department will further scrutinize the preliminary construction plans. He added that the city may elect to review the plans using in-house staff or an independent state-certified architect.

"We will use all resources we have possible to make sure compliance is achieved," he noted.

Commissioner Holly Smith asked if there had been any prior complaints regarding odor at the current Doc Ford's location on Rabbit Road, which Jordan responded that there have been none.

Attorney Steve Hartsell and restaurant partner/property owner Marty Harrity attended the meeting. Hartsell told the commission that "Doc Ford's is going to meet all of the city's requirements."

Asked when the restaurant planned on breaking ground at the new site, Harrity joked, "This afternoon."

"Clearly, they would like to get started as soon as possible," Hartsell added.

According to Harrity, Benchmark Construction will build the restaurant and, barring any summer weather delays, construction is expected to be completed within seven to nine months.

Smith made a motion to approve the resolution, which was seconded by fellow commissioner Jason Maughan and approved by a unanimous vote, 7 to 0.✪

Traffic Meetings Set For June 1 And 9

by Jeff Lysiak

Two meetings have been scheduled to discuss traffic concerns on Sanibel, most notably congestion along Periwinkle Way during peak periods in-season.

Last week, Mayor Kevin Ruane called for a special city council workshop meeting to discuss traffic problems and possible solutions. That meeting will be held beginning at 9 a.m. on Monday, June 1 at MacKenzie Hall.

A second session between members of the council and the city's planning commission has been scheduled for Tuesday, June 9 at 9 a.m., also at MacKenzie Hall. That meeting replaces the commission's regularly scheduled monthly session, which will instead take place on Tuesday, June 23.

The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Ruane suggested on May 5 that the city council workshop session focus on looking at a number of subjects which may offer some relevant solutions for

Sanibel, including:

- Technology – Signage, traffic alerts, Smartphone apps and commuter notifications
 - Behavior Modification – Ride sharing/carpooling
 - Education
 - Route Alternatives – Roundabouts, causeway one-way traffic during peak periods
 - Expectations
- "Certainly, there is some good data out there, but there is some data that is outdated," Ruane said last week after reviewing more than 2,600 pages of traffic-related information compiled over the last quarter of a century. "I look forward to having some good discussions on this."✪✪

Sweet Shop Approved For Palm Ridge Plaza

by Jeff Lysiak

During Tuesday's planning commission session, a conditional use permit was granted for Sanibel Sweet Shoppe, an 800-square-foot retail confectionary store to be located in the Palm Ridge Road Shopping Plaza.

City planner Benjamin Pople and business owner Elizabeth Pfeiffer presented the application to the commission. Among the 13 conditions for approval recommended by the planning department staff were:

- The approximately 800-square-foot commercial unit located at 2330 Palm Ridge Road shall be allowed to operate as a retail sweet shop involving the on-site food preparation and sale of items including candies, chocolates, fudge, cupcakes, tarts, cookies pastries, chocolate-dipped items (pretzels, fruit, etc.) and hand-dipped Italian ice as well as non-alcoholic beverages.

• The approved use shall be maintained in accordance with all applicable conditional use general requirements and the five conditions required for eating places, such as restaurants, grocery stores, and any permitted commercial use involving on-site food preparation or processing.

- No indoor or outdoor seats are authorized as part of this approval.
- Consumption of food items on the premises of the subject commercial unit is not permitted.

"The planning department does not object to the approval of the Sanibel Sweet Shoppe as a conditional use as long as the planning commission is able to determine that the proposed retail store will not be more intense than a typical retail commercial unit with respect to the parking requirements of the Land Development Code," the staff report wrote in summary.

Commissioner Holly Smith stated that she was "struggling to understand" why they were considering the application as a standard retail use rather than a traditional take-out food store. Sanibel Sweet Shoppe proposes to prepare the food on-site, however, they do not plan on offering confections, baked goods or Italian ices as "ready to eat" foods. All items will be prepackaged or prepared in containers to be consumed off-site.

"We want to have a down home island sweet shop," said Pfeiffer. "It's just a beachy island spot."

There were some discussions about available parking spaces and non-compliance issues at the property that were not related to the application. According to Planning Department Director Jim Jordan, the owner of Palm Ridge Road Shopping Plaza has submitted a plan which hopes to bring the property into compliance. His staff is currently reviewing that plan.

Following some additional remarks, commissioner Jason Maughan made a motion to approve the application, which was seconded by Chris Heidrick. The motion was approved, 7 to 0.✪

OBITUARY

FRANK L. CRAYMER

Frank L. Craymer, 75, of Wilmington, Delaware and formerly of Sanibel Island, died unexpectedly but peacefully on Sunday, May 10, 2015.

Frank is survived by his loving wife of 51 years, Gaynol (Gay) Craymer, and his two daughters, Suzanne L. Kissel of Cary, North Carolina, and Karen L. Zaritsky of Wilmington, Delaware, in addition to his four treasured grandchildren, Sarah L. Zaritsky, Henry L. Kissel, Tyler G. Kissel, and Ella T. Zaritsky.

Born on May 23, 1939 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Frank went on to graduate from Haverford High School in Haverford, Pennsylvania and matriculated from Drexel University in Philadelphia. Shortly thereafter, he met the light of his life, Gay on an Ocean City New Jersey beach. On June 20, 1964, they were married at Haddonfield Methodist Church in Haddonfield, New Jersey. He proudly served in the U.S. Army Reserves for nine years, receiving an honorable discharge in 1968.

Frank began his career as a CPA at Hercules Inc. in 1958. As a result of consistent promotion, he eventually served as the director of external reporting, a position that allowed him to express his love for detail in accounting as well as the written word. He was an active member of Hockessin United Methodist Church.

In 1993, Frank and Gay moved to Sanibel Island, Florida, where they lived for 12 years. Never tiring, Frank was employed by Wachovia from 1993 to 2003. After settling briefly in North Carolina, the two returned to their roots in Wilmington.

Frank was fiercely loyal to his family, his friends, and the values he learned from his parents. He gifted his grandchildren with his open adoration and complete attention – especially when checking their hands for cleanliness. He taught his daughters the importance of always pursuing their dreams, as he never stopped following his. More than anything else, Frank was a loving husband whose most profound monument will be the partnership he built and shared with Gay.

His funeral service will be held on Saturday, May 16 at 11 a.m. at Hockessin United Methodist Church, 7250 Lancaster Pike, Hockessin, Delaware with a visitation beginning at 10:30 a.m. Interment will follow the funeral at Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church Cemetery. The family suggests honoring Frank's memory by sending a contribution to The Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation and Library, 40 Presidential Drive, Simi Valley, CA 93065 (or online at www.reaganfoundation.org). Messages of condolence may be sent to www.mccreryandharra.com.

As we mourn his loss, Frank would want us to remember the words of Ronald Reagan: "Life is one grand, sweet song, so start the music."✪

Trust Fund Benefits Capt. Rob Modys

Saint Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church on Sanibel has set up a trust fund for Captain Rob Modys, a beloved fishing captain who operates out of Fishtail Marina in Fort Myers Beach.

Rob is the son of Bettie Modys, well loved and long-time volunteer of Noah's Ark, (a thrift shop run by the church members) and a long-time parishioner of Saint Michael's. Bettie is the reason customers at the Ark find everything so irresistible; she arranges the household items and sets the beautiful tables with previously loved dishes and linens. She also serves as Head of the Altar Guild, lovingly setting the altar for services in the church.

Rob's father, Robert Modys, served as Senior Churchwarden of Saint Michael's at the time of his death in 2000.

Rob played the bagpipes at the Installation of Rev. Dr. Ellen Sloan at Saint Michael's in 2009. Rob has been diagnosed with multiple myeloma and is undergoing treatment. He is presently unable to take clients on fishing excursions.

The Rob Modys Medical Fund has been set up at Bank of the Islands and donors may send checks made out to the fund to the bank or to the church office, 2304 Periwinkle Way on Sanibel.*

FISH Hurricane Committee Prepares For Upcoming Season

The official start of hurricane season is fast approaching, and the FISH of Sanibel-Captiva, Inc. Hurricane Committee is actively reaching out to the community in hopes of identifying those who need information and assistance during the hurricane season.

"While we do not evacuate individuals off the island, we do provide a detailed hurricane packet which includes a home visit to each household on our list. There, we review shelter and hotel information, preparation procedures and what to do in the event of an evacuation," said Sharon Thomas, FISH Hurricane Committee co-chair.

"The hurricane committee is a collaborative effort to ensure, to the extent possible, the safety of our neighbors," said Director of Operations and Hurricane Committee co-chair Maggie Goldsmith. "We work very closely with city officials each year to prepare for hurricane season. The service we provide is not only invaluable to our residents, but also to their families."

CROW Case Of The Week:

Osprey Fledgling

by Patricia Molloy

Late last month, a baby osprey (Pandion haliaetus) was found after an apparent fall from its nest. Unable to locate the nest, the bird's rescuer contacted CROW and it was admitted as patient #15-0956. In addition to being dehydrated and malnourished, it was determined that the osprey had a heart murmur.

The "murmur" is the sound of blood flowing. Most birds have a really fast heart rate (relative to mammals), as would be expected from such athletic creatures. Some birds also have a heart murmur, which means that there is abnormal blood flow in the heart and through one or more of the valves.

"When you hear it, there's no doubt it's a murmur, on the left-hand side," explained Dr. Heather. "But then after (receiving) fluids and stabilizing the bird the next day, we listened and it was clear as a bell. Not even the slightest hint of a murmur."

To look for any underlying conditions, Dr. Heather followed-up with a cardiac work-up that included blood tests and radiographs to evaluate the health of the osprey's internal organs. The heart murmur, like most, appeared to be harmless and did not require treatment.

"I don't think I've ever seen that so frequently in any other species, because it is mostly ospreys. There have been a few osprey that, even after we got them in here and stabilized and everything else was fine, continued to have really bad heart murmurs," Dr. Heather concluded.

The clinic's staff and students will continue to tong-feed the youngster until it is old enough to eat on its own. Shortly thereafter, Dr. Heather will transfer the osprey to a large outdoor flight enclosure. As soon as the fledgling has completed flying lessons, the magnificent fish-eating hawk with the white-crested head will begin life anew in the skies over Sanibel.

CROW has been on the front lines of the fight to save Lee County's osprey population by treating and releasing hundreds, if not thousands, of the native avians since it opened its doors in 1968. The wildlife clinic's tireless efforts to educate the public about the necessity of protecting all native and migratory wildlife populations in Lee County has also aided in the conservation efforts.

With the continued, combined efforts of local agencies and concerned residents, Lee County's native and migratory wildlife will continue to prosper. Never underestimate the difference that you, as an individual, can make to impact change. Start by volunteering your time or donating money to support CROW in its mission to rehabilitate sick, injured and abandoned wildlife for present and future

Shell Of The Week
Striate Bubble

by José H. Leal, PhD, The Bailey-Matthews National Shell Museum Science Director & Curator

The striate bubble, Bulla occidentalis A. Adams, 1850, is a local gastropod that may be seen alive in large numbers during the winter at the east end of Sanibel and other protected areas. Its fragile, barrel-shaped shell may reach 25 mm (one inch). The snail, when active, completely envelops the shell, but may retract completely into it when threatened. The striate bubble is a burrower, living in sandy-mud areas. Bubble snails and their relatives are hermaphroditic animals, having functional male and female reproductive systems. The egg masses of striate bubbles (pictured on the right) are gelatinous, enveloping and protecting tiny greenish-yellow eggs. Learn more about the striate bubble at <http://shellmuseum.org/shells/southwest-florida-shells/bulla-occidentalis>.

The Tarpon Network 'TTN'

by Capt. Matt Mitchell

Conditions for tarpon fishing were near perfect after a few crazy windy days early in the week. More and more, tarpon are appearing in the sound now that wanted fillets. Both of these species fed well on the big high tides.

After running along the beaches and the length of the sound from the tower, scouting for tarpon this week, the best action came for me while fishing in some of the old go-to tarpon haunts in the sound. Locating a few free jumping and rolling fish in these not so secret sound areas, it was then just a matter of setting up on the anchor and fishing the live and cut bait spread. No one particular place had lots of fish but if you put in your time and camped out, generally, you would get a few shots at a tarpon. While I sat on the hook in these areas, almost continuously every 10 minutes or so you would see a tarpon either roll or free jump. It was often just a matter of being patient in these places that you knew there were fish and a bite would eventually happen. Fresh cut bait did better for me this week though we did have a few hook-ups on the live bait rods with crabs and pinfish under a float.

I did hear a few tarpon reports from other captains of sporadic action in the afternoons out on the beaches when we are past the full moon. With the weather really starting to settle down, tarpon fishing should just keep getting better, the more consistent the weather, the more consistent fishing is. Tarpon during the month of May are my primary target species although a couple of afternoons this week I've got away from it a little and mixed it up, fishing the catch and release snook action and for larger mangrove snapper when clients

A hooked tarpon comes just about close enough for a leader touch and release the sea breeze held off. These big pods of gulfside tarpon randomly popped up in the Sundial/Knapp's Point area. For sheer numbers of fish, this can be awesome. Wide open bite, but with so much open water out here to locate fish in, unless conditions are just perfect it's, not usually where I spend much of my time tarpon fishing. If I decide to beach fish, it's normally from Blind Pass north to Boca Grande where the fish move much closer to the beach and seem to have more north and south direction to this movement.

With so much water to cover in our area, that can be holding tarpon that having friends who are on the water doing the same thing, can save you lots of running time. Less running means more time in the fish and more time with the rod in your hand. My normal day of tarpon fishing usually starts where I located the bulk of the fish the previous day. I like to use that as a starting point. If no tarpon are showing there, I start what we refer to as the loop. This route takes me through seven or eight of my favorite areas to tarpon fish in the sound.

During the periods when I'm on the move hunting and looking through these areas, I'm also sometimes on the phone texting or calling other tarpon guides that are on the water doing the same thing. Knowing that a guide is not seeing any fish on Cayo Costa is almost as important as if he is seeing lots of fish. Tarpon connections, or our little guide networks, cut down on running time from place to place and give our clients more fishing time.

Most of the year, fishing guides are pretty closed lipped about where they catch snook and redfish among other fellow guides as most of these spots are often very small only able to fit one or two boats. Tarpon fishing involves much bigger bodies of water so we often help each other out. Being able to cover a 50-square-mile area in a few texts is an invaluable tool and beneficial to all involved.

Sanibel resident Rene Lohser recently had a unique experience at the Fulgar Street beach access parking lot, where he saw a pair of red cardinals attack the mirrors of several parked automobiles.

"After they made sure nobody was around, they got closer and closer to the side mirrors of the cars, looked into it and attacked it violently, one after another,"

Lace Ferns

by Gerri Reaves

Lace ferns (Asparagus setaceus) history in Florida dates as far back as the 1890s, when it was grown and shipped to northern markets for use in floral arrangements.

A native to southern and eastern Africa, it is also called plumosus fern, climbing asparagus fern and common asparagus fern.

Lace fern has the finest foliage of the several asparagus ferns found in Florida. It is a relative of the very common Sprenger's asparagus-fern (Asparagus aethiopicus), which is listed as a category-1 species by the Florida Exotic Pest Plant Council.

Lace fern is found on disturbed sites in Florida and has become naturalized. Because of its potential as a nuisance plant, it is best used only for flower arrangements or as a container plant.

This long-lived twining climbing vine has semi-woody stems and stiff flat branches with very tiny feathery branchlets. The main stems are thornless or slightly thorny and can be 10 feet or longer.

This member of the lily family is not really a fern, but is so called because of the needle-like "ferny" foliage. The leaves are in fact scale. The small hairless stems appear to be leaves.

The tiny white or greenish white flowers appear singly or in pairs. The spherical fruit of about one-fourth of an inch in diameter ripens from green to dark purple or black and contains up to three seeds that are eaten and dispersed by birds.

Its rhizomes, creeping root-like stems, make this fast-grower very difficult to control. In some parts of the world – including California and Australia – it is an environmental pest.

Specific areas in Florida are treating the plant as a nuisance, even though it is not officially listed as an invasive plant

The dark fruit is eaten and dispersed by birds, adding to the plant's invasive potential statewide.

It is toxic to pets if ingested.

CROW Calendar Of Events

The Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife (CROW) has specialty programs available for residents and visitors. Meet the staff and learn what it takes to rescue, rehabilitate and release wildlife in Southwest Florida.

For reservations, contact Rachel Rainbolt at rrainbolt@crowclinic.org or 472-3644 ext. 229 to register. Hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; closed weekends. CROW is located at 3883 Sanibel-Captiva Road.

Friday, May 15, 11 a.m., $5 included with admission – Wild About Rehabilitation, presented by CROW staff.

After a patient stabilizes in the hospital, CROW's rehabilitation staff provides a combination of balanced diet, husbandry and physical therapy. This supportive care is necessary to ensure success during the final step in the rehabilitation process. Questions are welcome.

Monday, May 18, 11 a.m., $5 included with admission – Wildlife Rescue 101, presented by a CROW volunteer.

CROW hospital treats over 3,500 patients a year, but not all of the animals admitted need assistance. Facilities like CROW should be an animal's last resort, not their first. This presentation uses past case studies, rescues and releases to teach you about safe interactions with wildlife in the community.

Tuesday, May 19, 11 a.m., $5 included with admission – Patient Profiles: Sea Turtles presented by CROW staff.

CROW is the only licensed sea turtle facility from Sarasota to Miami on the southwest coast of Florida. One of CROW's team members will describe why they are admitted and how the medical staff treats this species.

Wednesday, May 20, 11 a.m., $5 included with admission – CROW Case of the Week, presented by a CROW student.

CROW's teaching hospital offers externship, fellowship and internship opportunities for natural science and veterinary medicine students. While on site, students learn the ins and outs of conservation medicine and wildlife rehabilitation, and are share their favorite patient stories.

Thursday, May 21, 11 a.m., $5 included with admission – Patient Profiles: Gopher Tortoises, presented by a CROW volunteer.

The life of a gopher tortoise revolves around its burrow. These tortoises are found digging from Southern Georgia to Southeast Florida. Because of its contributions to the ecosystem, it is classified as a "Keystone Species." CROW's presenter will describe why they are admitted and how the medical staff treats this species.

Thursday, May 21, 2 p.m., $20 advance registration required – Wildlife Walk with Rehabilitators and Staff.

Following the presentation, visitors will be escorted to the rehabilitation grounds for an exclusive look at what it takes to rehabilitate more than 3,500 wildlife patients per year.

Friday, May 22 – closed.✧

FISH Hurricane Committee

The FISH Hurricane Committee consists of FISH volunteers who met for a training session earlier this month. Volunteers were assigned households for visitation, grouped by zone. After gathering information from those households, including emergency contacts, evacuation plans and medical needs, FISH will notify the Sanibel Police Department, Sanibel Fire & Rescue District, Community Housing & Resources, Lee County Emergency Management, Lee County Shelter and Special Needs, and out-of-state family members of islander's plans. Should a storm approach, committee members will gather at the FISH Walk-In Center to reach out to those on the list and confirm their emergency plans.

This year, the committee started with 38 households on their list, and anticipates more will request a home visit and/or the FISH informational hurricane packet as hurricane season continues. To be included on the FISH hurricane list, or to obtain additional information about their services, contact the FISH Walk-In Center at 472-4775.✧

Seminar Prepares Residents For 2015 Hurricane Season

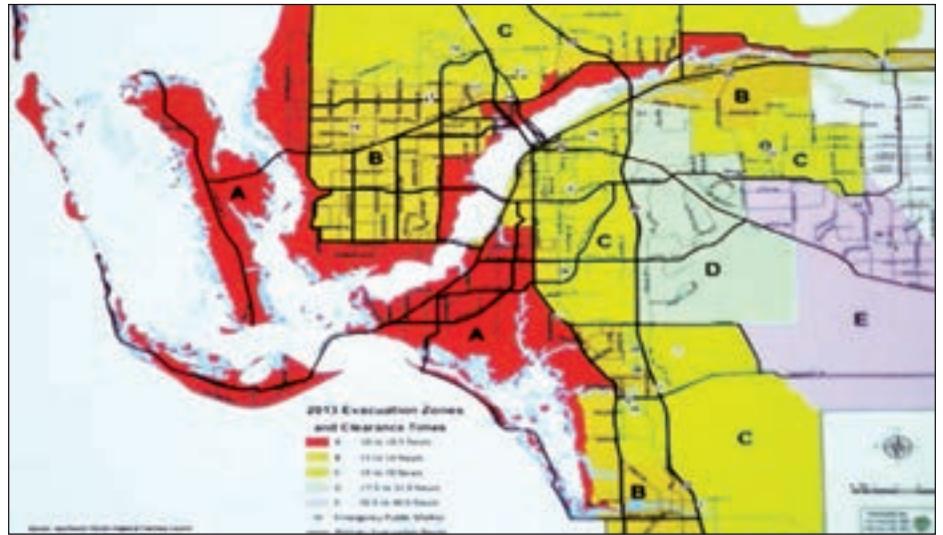

Approximately two dozen island residents, Captiva fire and Sanibel police staff and Lee County government officials attended the Captiva Hurricane Seminar, held last Thursday afternoon at South Seas Island Resort

by Jeff Lysiak

Last Thursday afternoon, more than two dozen residents attended the 2015 Captiva Hurricane Seminar, an annual information-sharing session held in the Auger Room at South Seas Island Resort. The two-hour meeting included a history of tropical storms, their impacts on the islands and how residents should prepare for the upcoming hurricane season.

Speakers included Jim Bjostad, chief of the Lee County Emergency Operations Center; Pam Brown of the Lee County Visitor & Convention Bureau; Lance Henninger, emergency management specialist for the Sanibel Police Department; Rich Dickerson, chief of the Captiva Island Fire District; Lt. Mike Sawicki of the Lee County Sheriff's Office; and Amy Hoyt, GIS coordinator for the Lee County Emergency Operations Center.

Following introductions by Ann Bradley of the Captiva Memorial Library, Bjostad talked about dealing with the potential of hurricanes is a part of living here in Southwest Florida.

"I don't want you to be afraid of living here, I just want you to know that there are things you can do to prepare for a hurricane," said Bjostad. "I'm not going to let a hurricane dictate where I live just because a major storm hits every 250 years."

Jim Bjostad of the Lee County Emergency Operations Center

According to The Tropical Meteorology Project, headed by Colorado State University's Dr. William Gray, a total of seven named storms and three hurricanes – including one major hurricane, has been predicted for the 2015 Atlantic Hurricane Season. The average number of named storms (1971 through 2010) per year is 12, while the average number of hurricanes per year is 6.5.

In 2014, Dr. Gray's team forecasted 10 named storms (actual eight), four hurricanes (actual six) and one major hurricane (actual two). However, just because weather experts are predicting a "slow" season of tropical storm/hurricane activity does not mean that people should be letting their guard down.

Bjostad's presentation included several photographs depicting before and after photographs taken in a number of storm-ravaged communities. They included images taken from the time of hurricanes Donna, Andrew, Charley, Katrina and Wilma.

"2004 and 2005 were really bad years for us, but we've been pretty lucky since then," he added. "But don't be lulled into a false sense of security just because they're predicting a slow hurricane season. All it takes is a storm like Andrew to ruin your year."

In addition, Bjostad emphasized that living on Captiva and Sanibel requires an extra layer for planning prior to a storm. "We out here are particularly vulnerable because we only have one route off the island," he said, adding two phrases to keep in mind:

- Respect The Wind
- Fear The Surge

Hoyt discussed advanced planning, evacuation zones, emergency public shelters and the technologies the county has implemented since Hurricane Charley to assist residents. This includes their website (www.leegov.com), where there are links to important phone numbers and downloads for mobile apps that may be useful during a disaster.

Recalling the evacuations which took place during Hurricane Charley in 2004, Dickerson stated that it took five days for people to be allowed back onto Sanibel, and eight days for the residents of Captiva to return.

"If we tell you to go... go," said Dickerson. "We'll stay here as long as we can, but if we're getting out of town, you should too."

Henninger and Sawicki discussed the procedures for obtaining a Hurricane Re-Entry Pass (available at the Sanibel Police Department, 800 Dunlop Road, Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) as well as filling out a Captiva Homeowners Authorization Letter (available at the Captiva Memorial Library, 11560 Chapin Lane, or online at www.mycaptiva.info), which grants permission for people other than a home owner to visit a property following an evacuation.

Leoma Lovegrove Wins Junonia Award

by Tom Hall

The Lee County Visitor & Convention Bureau (VCB) and the Greater Fort Myers Chamber of Commerce Inc. honored Leoma Lovegrove during the Chrysalis Awards on April 16

with its prestigious Junonia Award. The business and tourism awards luncheon and trade show is held annually at the Harborside Event Center in downtown Fort Myers.

Created in 2006, the Junonia Award recognizes individuals who have positively impacted the local tourism community by demonstrating unique capabilities, leadership, commitment, and dedication. The Junonia is a highly treasured shell and was selected as a symbol of the VCB's annual award because of its rarity and exceptional quality. Lovegrove is known worldwide for her bold depictions of local flora and fauna. She was chosen for her tireless promotion of the destination.

In presenting the award to Lovegrove, Tamara Pigott, executive director of the VCB, described Lovegrove's contagious love of Florida that has been instrumental in encouraging tourism from around the world. "The VCB has enjoyed a long-standing partnership with Leoma in promoting our destination. I have personally had the pleasure of working alongside her on many of our national and international marketing programs," said Pigott.

An arts advocate, Tom Hall guides weekly walking tours of the River District's public art collection in Fort Myers. For more information, go to truetours.net.*

Fun Day For Kids This Saturday

The City of Fort Myers is participating in a nationwide day of outdoor play at Centennial Park on Saturday, May 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., organized by the National Park Trust (NPT), in cooperation with a host of local and national collaborators.

There will be games, activities and food for kids of all ages including a fun run, potato sack relay race, dance contest, kids' Zumba, Chalk of the Walk, beach volleyball, street hockey, bounce houses, arts and crafts and other activities. There is no charge to attend.*

May Is National Electrical Safety Month

May is National Electrical Safety Month, and LCEC is joining with the Electrical Safety Foundation International (ESFI) to raise awareness about potential home electrical hazards and the importance of electrical safety.

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) estimates 47,700 home structure fires reported to U.S. fire departments each year involve some type of electrical failure or malfunction as a factor contributing to ignition. These fires result in 418 civilian deaths, 1,570 civilian injuries, and $1.4 billion in direct property damage. Awareness and education are critical to reduce the incidence of electrical fires, and ESFI sponsors National Electrical Safety Month each May to educate the public in order to reduce the number of electrically related fires, fatalities, injuries and property loss.

In addition to electrical safety in the home, it is vital to use caution outdoors. When working or playing outdoors, check to make sure that items such as ladders, kites, booms, pool skimmers and antennas are clear of overhead power lines. Never touch or attempt to move a downed power line. Remember that power lines are underground as well. Before you dig, call 811 to have utility lines marked.

For more tips on electrical safety, visit www.lcec.net. For more information on National Electrical Safety Month, visit www.esfi.org.*

Book Review

The Brotherhood Of The Red Nile: America Responds

by Di Saggau

The Brotherhood of the Red Nile: America Responds, the long awaited final installment of Dan Perkins' Brotherhood trilogy, is now available. The first two books in his series The Brotherhood of the Red Nile: A Terrorist Perspective and The Brotherhood of the Red Nile: America Rebuilds tell the story of a new terrorist group founded in Syria with the goal of attacking the United States. The books read like the headlines of tomorrow's news.

As book three begins, our government trying is to figure out how to respond to the Brotherhood having exploded two reconditioned nuclear bombs in the U.S., killing 60,000 Americans and damaging the oil and natural gas infrastructure in Texas and Louisiana. President Nathan Jordan is ruling the country by Executive Order and planning the retaliation. He needs the help of The Pathfinders: Ted, Hadar, Megan, Omid and John. These characters will be familiar to many. He also needs the help of a former spy named Mike Ridley, who is retired and in protective custody. The president and his advisors feel that he is the key to tracking down the source of funding for the Brotherhood, that being a Russian oil billionaire named Victor Antipova, who they believe is also the source of funding for many other terrorist groups.

A call is placed to Mike with the area code of 239. He and his wife are living on Sanibel. Mike enjoys many of the haunts we all do on island and it is fun to read about them. Perkins' attention to detail is amazing, from how a voice stress analyzer works, to a special GPS tracker and even the brand of beer in the fridge. I love the zingers he puts at the end of most paragraphs to entice the reader to keep turning the pages.

Mike agrees to help out even though his adopted son Michael is a member of the Brotherhood. He is taken aback when he learns Michael has a twin brother named Ishtar who is also a member. The president ponders whether he should strike a deal with a terrorist. As they are getting close to finding the location of the Brotherhood, the president makes a surprising decision. As in the first two books, the journey is full of twists and turns, surprises and almost believable events.

Perkins wrote all three books to try and educate American about the serious challenges in fighting terrorists. Book three uses fiction to convey some significant ways to prevent a cataclysmic attack, make America strong again, protect our borders and, most of all, make us all proud to be Americans. It is available at local book stores and online. This well-researched book is a great read.

Perkins and his wife have established a foundation called Songs and Stories for Soldiers, Inc. The foundation is up and running, serving to support the active duty wounded along with the veterans in the VA medical facilities across the nation. Three Large Scale Productions Showcased In Three Counties

The Mikado production from earlier this year

Gulfshore Opera announced its second season with an exciting lineup comprised of three large scale productions to be showcased in Southwest Florida. The first show of the season will be a joint production with TheatreZone of the musical Brigadoon by Frederic Loewe, November 20 to 28. From March 18 to 22, Gulfshore Opera will be teaming up with the FGCU Chamber Choir and The Fort Myers Symphonic Mastersingers Chamber Chorus to present the magnificent Saint Matthew's Passion by J.S Bach in anticipation of Holy Week. Gulfshore Opera's 2015-16 season will conclude with Gaetano Donizetti's comic masterpiece The Elixir of Love, running April 15 to 21. All of these productions will be presented at venues in Collier, Lee and Charlotte counties. Confirmed venues include the Charlotte Performing Arts Center (CPAC) in Punta Gorda, the First Christian Church in downtown Fort Myers and the North Naples Church.

Gulfshore Opera is proud to join forces with TheatreZone to take you through the journey of two American tourists who stumble upon the mysterious Scottish village of Brigadoon, which appears for only one day every 100 years. The production will be directed by Mark Danni and choreographed by Karen Molnar. This delightful evening's highlights include hit songs like Almost Like Being in Love, Heather on the Hill and Come to Me Bend to Me, made famous by the legendary Gene Kelly.

For an once-in-a-lifetime Lent experience, Gulfshore Opera and partners will bring the Gospel of Matthew to music through Johann Sebastian Bach's sacred oratorio, Saint Matthew Passion. A grand scale undertaking never done in Southwest Florida, this performance will feature the FGCU Chamber Choir and The Fort Myers Symphonic Mastersingers Chamber Chorus, a core ensemble of eight soloists and the Gulfshore Opera Orchestra and Chorus. Traditionally performed as a concert and regarded as one of the masterpieces of classical sacred music since being triumphantly revived by Felix Mendelssohn, the Saint Matthew Passion will be presented as a Passion Play by general and artistic director Steffanie Pearce, following her successful staging of Mendelssohn's Elijah in 2013. In this dramatic re-enactment, the soloists will depict Matthew, Jesus, the disciples and women from the Bible.

To conclude the 2015-16 season, Gulfshore Opera will present its first fully staged Italian opera, Gaetano Donizetti's The Elixir of Love. L'elisir d'amore, Donizetti's most performed opera, is perhaps most known for the famous tenor aria, Una furtiva lagrima. Irish tenor Anthony Kearns will return to Southwest Florida to sing the role of Nemorino, a poor peasant in love with a beautiful landowner, Adina, and tormented by her utter indifference. This light-hearted comedy bubbles with effervescent arias and charm as the elixir causes as many problems as it solves.

Tickets are $25, $45, $59 and $75. The box office for 2015-16 sales will open on August 1 online at www.gulfshoreopera.org.✪

Library Book Discussion Group To Meet

Readers are invited to come in to the Sanibel Public Library to talk about Donna Tartt's The Goldfinch, the focus of the Wednesday, May 27 book discussion. The meeting is free and open to the public. The discussion begins at 2 p.m. in the library's Meeting Room 4, located on the ground floor.

In a New York Times Book Review, Stephen King writes, "The Goldfinch is a rarity that comes along perhaps half a dozen times per decade, a smartly written literary novel that connects with the heart as well as the mind..." Donna Tartt has delivered an extraordinary work of fiction." The Goldfinch was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 2014.

In the novel, Theo Decker, a 13-year-old New Yorker, miraculously survives an accident that kills his mother. Abandoned by his father, Theo is taken in by the family of a wealthy friend. Bewildered by his strange new home on Park Avenue, and tormented by his longing for his mother, he clings to the one thing that reminds him of her: a small, mysteriously captivating painting that ultimately draws Theo into the underworld of art. As an adult, Theo moves between the drawing rooms of the rich and the dusty labyrinth of an antiques store where he works. He is alienated and in love – and at the center of a narrowing, ever more dangerous circle.

While it is preferable to come having previously read the book, all are welcome. The books featured for the book group discussions are available in print, on CD, as well as in downloadable format. Copies of book club books are located in the library near the Reference Desk.

The June book selection is Liane Moriarty's bestseller, The Husband's Secret. The group will review Debra Dean's The Madonnas of Leningrad in July. If you have questions about the meetings or the library, call 472-2483 or go to www.sanlib.org.*

Potential Cancer Treatment Receives Funding Boost

John Kanzius
by Jim George

In 2009, Sanibel resident John Kanzius knew his time was short and he would not live to see his invention of a new, alternative cancer treatment approved as a weapon in the fight against the deadly disease. A former radio engineer and broadcast manager, he invented a device that uses radio waves to heat and destroy cancer cells targeted with nanoparticles without affecting nearby healthy cells. He died six years ago of a rare form of leukemia, with the hope that his technology would eventually become a reality that would impact the lives of millions of people in the future. His technology lived on through the efforts of his wife through the Kanzius Foundation, and his colleague and lead researcher, Dr. Steven Curley of Baylor University. Sanibel and Captiva residents were major participants in the ongoing research through funding and support in the early stages of the project. The Kanzius Foundation raised over $15 million for research and development before dissolving last year.

Dr. Steven Curley

Curley, meanwhile, has continued the research.

The residual funds of the foundation, approximately $1 million, were approved for distribution last week with allocations of $250,000 to Lee Memorial Health System Foundation, $250,000 to Baylor University and the balance to the Erie Community Foundation, Erie, Pennsylvania. Lee Memorial's share will go to the Regional Cancer Center on Colonial Boulevard in Fort Myers earmarked for human trials if the technology is approved by the FDA. Lee Memorial Health System is one of five sites that had previously been designated, due primarily to the early local support given to the project. The Kanzius Foundation board says if the Kanzius treatment cannot be conducted within five years, the funds may be distributed for cancer research purposes.

The Kanzius non-invasive treatment for cancer involves two essential components; the radio frequency (RF) field generator (medical device) and nanoparticles targeted to cancer cells (medical compound). The use of radio waves, or radiofrequency ablation, works by using radio waves to heat up and kill cancer cells, which are more sensitive than normal cells to the effects of heat. To augment this effect, metallic nanoparticles are injected into or ingested by the cancer cells. This leads to more efficient killing of the cancer cells while preserving the normal surrounding tissues. The targeting of cancer cells by nanoparticles through the use of specific protein binding is expected to lead to more effective cancer therapy that enhances the potential for cure. In addition, the targeted nature of the treatment preserves normal tissue, and thus the expected side effects from this treatment should be minimal or non-existent.

AkesoGenX, the company who, last year, purchased the Kanzius technology and the right to hold patents, has also just received new financial backing from an individual investor. AkesoGenX spokesman Larry Anderson said the company recently brought in a new CEO, Dr. Michael Wandell, who has extensive experience and a successful track record in FDA protocols, and a new technology officer, Dr. Patricia Ilisiu. According to lead researcher Dr. Steve Curley of Baylor University, the company has elected to do the initial trials in Naples, Italy where he has already submitted protocols for the two deadliest cancers, liver and pancreatic.

"We're hoping to get preliminary results of the Italian submittals by this summer," Curley said. Curley also said they have advised the FDA of the Italian submittal and will forward the resulting data to them. Curley added that their research has continued to expand into modifications for the Radio frequency generator and the nano particle technology that comprise the procedure. "We are hoping the Italian submittal will be approved by about the second quarter of 2016," Curley said, "and then we'll use that data for our FDA approvals."

The Italian site was selected because of the high incidence of liver cancer in that area and Curley's past association with the center. Human trials in this country cannot begin until FDA approval is received.

The Kanzius technology has captured the attention of the medical world and there is a general consensus that the technology has tremendous possibilities as an alternative treatment for cancer.*

Galloway Captiva Triathlon Registration Under Way

Registration is under way for the 5th annual Galloway Captiva Triathlon. Registration now guarantees participants a spot in the event (which has sold out earlier every year) and saves registrants money. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Community Cooperative Ministries Inc. (CCMI) School Pantry and Emergency Food Backpack program.

The event is scheduled for Sunday, September 13 at South Seas Island Resort on Captiva and includes a quarter-mile open-water swim, 10-mile bike (on closed island roads) and 3.1-mile run along the gulf and Redfish Pass. Registration is available online at www.CaptivaTri.org. The nonrefundable cost to register is $75 for individuals, $85 for elite amateur athletes and $180 for relay teams of two or three people. If the tri doesn't sell out first, registration increases June 1 to $85, $95 and $200, respectively.

"It's all about staying in shape, challenging yourself and staying active," said race director Kate Gooderham. "Participants enjoy a great sense of accomplishment and at the same time, our community benefits from the donation to an important local charity."

The Captiva Tri also will host a shorter Children's Fun Tri on Saturday, September 12, also at South Seas. The race will not be timed and all finishers will earn a medal.

Children will compete in three age groups: 6-8, 9-10 and 11-13 -- with the distances of each race varying. Registration is $25.

Information and event registration for both races is available at www.CaptivaTri.org. The Galloway Family of Dealerships is the title sponsor of the event. CCMI uses the event proceeds to benefit its program that provides backpacks of food to children who otherwise may not have easily accessible meals at home.*

Passport Saturday At Lee Clerk Of Court's Office

The Lee County Clerk of Court's Recording Office will be open on Saturday, May 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. to process passport applications. This is a special benefit for families with children since children 15 and under must apply with both parents. Also, minors between the ages 16 and 17 must apply with at least one parent present. The special Saturday opening allows families to apply for passports in time for summer vacation without missing work or school time.

The Lee County Administration Building is located at 2115 Second Street, 2nd Floor in Fort Myers. No appointments are necessary. Regular passport service turnaround time is approximately four to six weeks. Expedited passport service

Zonta Club Announces Public Affairs Award Recipient

The 2015 recipient of Zonta's Young Women in Public Affairs Award is Sanibel resident Casey Dillon Wexler, a Fort Myers High School senior. Wexler was honored recently at a Zonta gathering, and will attend American University in Washington DC in the fall.

Established in 1990, the YWPA award honors young women aged 16 to 19 who demonstrate a commitment to leadership in public policy, government and volunteer organizations. The program operates at several levels, and those honored at the local level compete for district/region awards and international awards. The Zonta Club of Sanibel-Captiva awards a $250 prize and sends the chosen application to Zonta's District 11, comprising 42 clubs from North Carolina to the Caribbean.

Wexler, who attended The Sanibel School before heading to Fort Myers High School, has maintained a weighted GPA of 5.1 in the competitive International Baccalaureate program. In addition to her academic achievements, she has been involved in many academic and sporting activities, ranging from the school's Film Club and varsity swim team to serving as the School News Director and as the Florida State Assistant Editor of the Youth-In-Government Press Corps. She qualified for a three-week talent identification program on the campus of Duke University each summer for four years, studying subjects such as Literature, Law and Logic; Archaeology and Anthropology; and Phylogenetic Systematics.

Concerned about the environment, she volunteered at The Sanibel Sea School while still in elementary school. Later, she joined the Model UN club at Fort Myers High, immersing herself in foreign policy concerns of nations such as India, Syria and Iran. This led to a fascination with international issues and how they affect the policies of the United States. In 2014, Wexler volunteered through Visions Service Adventures on a Blackfeet Indian reservation in Montana, where for four weeks she painted houses, helped build a wheelchair ramp and helped set up a traditional holy ceremony called an Okan.

"Casey is a young woman with an impeccable academic record, outstanding moral character, imaginative intellect, and a will to succeed," wrote Tamara H. Leake, AP teacher in Psychology and U.S. History at Fort Myers High. "The future holds great promise for Casey, and I feel confident that she will take advantage of her opportunities to shine."

Wexler has not yet chosen her college major, but it seems clear that whatever path she chooses, she will make her mark on the world. She writes of "exemplary women" in her life: her grandmother started the first women-only lobbying firm in the nation's capital and her mother broke barriers in the broadcasting business.

"I want to inspire women to get involved in public policy and help advance the cause of women's rights in our country and around the world," Wexler said.

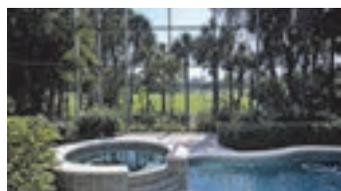

The Zonta Club of Sanibel/Captiva is a service organization of professional women working together to provide hands-on assistance, advocacy and funds to strengthen women's lives on the islands, in Lee County and around the world through Zonta International. Elected Officials Attend Ethics Seminar

by Jeff Lysiak

On May 1, approximately 50 elected officials and municipal employees from throughout

Southwest Florida attended a continuing education seminar on ethics – sponsored by the Florida League of Cities – at the Sanibel Recreation Center.

Robert E. Lee, DPA, ICMA-CM, assistant professor in the Department of Public Affairs at Florida Gulf Coast University, conducted the all-day seminar, which included instruction on Florida's ethics laws and state constitution, public meetings and public records.

"Southwest Florida is blessed with some of the best city leaders and city managers in the country," said Lee, a former city manager who served in Florida cities including Naples, Gulfport and Lauderhill.

Attending the seminar on behalf of the City of Sanibel were the elected officials of city council – Mayor Kevin Ruane, Vice Mayor Mick Denham and Councilmen Jim Jennings, Marty Harrity and Chauncey Goss – along with City Manager Judie Zimomra, City Clerk Pamela Smith, City Attorney Ken Cuyler, Natural Resources Department Director James Evans and Recreation Department Director Andrea Miller.

Also in attendance were elected officials and municipal employees from Fort Myers, Cape Coral, Fort Myers Beach, Estero, Northport, Punta Gorda, Venice, Arcadia and Hendry County.

Ethics training for specified constitutional officers and elected municipal officials is required by Florida statute, effective January 1 of this year. However, as Lee pointed out, what happens during open public meetings is "vastly different" than what many of his seminar attendees may have seen on C-SPAN of local government cable television. He called those broadcasts "unreality TV."

To begin the session, Lee noted that when it doubt about dealing with any issue that might arise before, during or after a government meeting, asking the advice of legal counsel is the first step.

"First and foremost, you must consult with your municipal attorney. Then, get it in writing," said Lee. "And if it isn't real clear, then ask for further clarification."

The Florida League of Cities offers free legal consultation service to any attorney who represents a municipality or elected official through the attorney.

"That's probably the single most important advice I will give you today," he added. ✨

The Kiwanis Club of Sanibel-Captiva is a gold sponsor for the 7th annual 10K Race 4 FISH. Both organizations come together for the common goal of helping island children in need. The race is a main fundraiser for the non-profit that delivers human service programs to individuals of all ages for a better community.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors 10K Race 4 FISH

The Kiwanis Club of Sanibel and Captiva Islands has become a Gold Sponsor of the 10K Race 4 FISH set for Saturday, October 17. The carefully-plotted foot race around the island is a main fundraiser to support the non-profit, FISH of Sanibel-Captiva, Inc.

"The Kiwanis Club is delighted to partner with FISH in lending a helping hand to our island youth," said Kiwanis Club President Ed Riddlehoover.

Kiwanis uses its sizable charity budget to give local children educational opportunities through nearly $50,000 in scholarships each year. The club administers scholarship funds for the tiniest of youth at Children's Education Center of the Islands, a non-profit preschool dedicated to affording children an educational head start.

Through the Florida non-profit, Lee County Take Stock In Children, the Kiwanis Club provides an $8,500 matched contribution to a four-year full scholarship for qualified youth with a Sanibel-Captiva connection. The club also gives $31,000 in direct scholarships annually to youth with an island connection, for post-secondary education.

Kiwanis Club members have been dedicated to providing deserving low-income youth an opportunity to escape the cycle of poverty through education for many years.

"The money we raise and spend stays on the islands, primarily helping youth," said Riddlehoover. "It is important to us, Kiwanis members, that we be good neighbors in our community."

Neighbors helping neighbors is the foundation upon which FISH was built nearly three decades ago. Its array of human service programs are centered around socialization, nutrition and emergency assistance.

The year-round backpack program provides children in kindergarten through eighth grade at The Sanibel School, as well as pre-kindergarteners in three other local educational facilities, with nutritious weekend meals. In 2014, FISH helped 192 youth through programming such as the backpack program, family emergency financial assistance, lunches and scholarships.

"Young people are our future. We must lend a hand to those who are at a disadvantage and build better communities," added Riddlehoover. "We are very appreciative of the support we receive from Kiwanis Club members, who also care about our future generation."

The Kiwanis Club of Sanibel-Captiva has nearly 100 members, who are also dedicated members of the community, where they serve on several boards and volunteer for several other organizations. Kiwanis provides an opportunity to give back to the community, but the members have a lot of fun in the process.

They meet over a delicious breakfast on Tuesday mornings at The Dunes Golf & Tennis Club.

The 10K Race 4 FISH committee has started planning for the 7th annual race that draws hundreds of runners and spectators from around the islands and across the causeway. Sponsorship slots remain open – Gold, Silver, Bronze or Friend.

For Gold to Bronze sponsorships, your name or logo will appear on the back of T-shirts featuring the Hortoon race logo and worn by the runners, as well as on all banners and printed 10K materials. Friend sponsors will be included in all banners and printed 10K materials.

Anyone interested in becoming a 10K Race 4 FISH sponsor should contact Nancy and Pete Bender at benderlaw@juno.com or 472-5220. The deadline is September 15.✪

Twins Are An Early-Season Surprise; Red Sox A Disappointment

by Ed Frank

If you looked at the American League baseball standings at the beginning of this week, they were sure not what you expected six weeks ago when the Boston Red Sox and the Minnesota Twins left here at the conclusion of Spring Training.

The re-tooled Red Sox, a team that had spent more than $200 million in the off-season free agency market, was favored to compete atop the league. And the experts figured the Twins would once again be mired in last-place, particularly after their prized off-season acquisition, pitcher Ervin Santana, was suspended for half the season for failing a drug test.

Baseball is a long 162-game grind, but on Monday, with about 20 percent of the season completed, the Twins, having won eight of their last 10 games, were 18-14 and just 2-1/2 games behind first-place Kansas City in the American League Central Division. And they owned the best home record in the league at 12-5.

Boston, meanwhile, was near the bottom of the AL East with a sub-.500 record of 14-17.

The Twins early-season spurt has dumbfounded many as it is a team lacking star power in both hitting and pitching. In fact, there are just two Minnesota players in any of the league-leading categories. Closer Glen Perkins is perfect with 11 saves in 11 opportunities, and infielder Brian Dozier is second in the league with 25 runs scored.

The Twins lineup is essentially the same as a year ago with the exception of 39-year-old Torri Hunter, who returned to the team where he began his illustrious career. He has provided a welcomed spark, hitting .287 as the week began. However, in the seven games prior to Monday, he blasted three home runs and hit .379.

The lack of plus-.300 hitters has not curtailed the scoring of runs by this team. They rank near the top of Major League baseball in runs scored as they did last season despite losing 92 games. They are not winning games with home runs but rather stringing together hits.

Last weekend against Cleveland, where the Twins won two of three games, they garnered 13 hits on Friday and 16 on Saturday and have scored season-high 13 runs twice this month.

It's far too early to call the 2015 season a success, but rookie Manager Paul Molitor has obviously brought a positive influence to this team – a team that blundered through four consecutive seasons, losing more than 90 games.

Minnesota has counted on their prized two top prospects, Miquel Sano and Byron Buxton, to propel the Twins back to winning baseball. Both, however, started slowly this year at Double A Chattanooga.

But their bats have come alive in the last couple of weeks. Buxton was named Southern League Player of the Week for April 27 to May 3. During those seven games, the young outfielder raised his batting average from .190 to .287 during which time he collected multiple hits five times, belted four triples, stole five bases and scored 11 runs.

And, Sano in the last 14 games through Sunday, .314 and improved his season batting average from .188 to .214.

As for the Red Sox, there is plenty of time to get back into contention. Starting pitching has been their downfall. Veteran Clay Buchholz won his first game last Sunday since opening day.

Boston demoted several players, fired pitching coach Juan Nieves and hired Carl Willis in his place. Willis was brought in from Triple A Columbus.

We know that 32 games don't make a season, but they sure have been encouraging for the Twins and discouraging for the Red Sox.

Miracle Improve Season Record

The Fort Myers Miracle baseball team won four straight games last week to improve their season record to 14-16. They started the week six games out of first place in the Florida State League South Division.

The Miracle hosted Dunedin four games this week, Monday through Thursday, losing the first game 5-2. The team is on the road this weekend.

Everblades Season Ends

The season ended Monday night for the Florida Everblades when they were eliminated by South Carolina in the East Division Finals of the Kelly Cup playoffs.

After losing the first two games in the best-of-seven series, the Everblades forced a Game Six by winning two of three games last week on the road.

But the series ended Monday night at Germain when South Carolina defeated the Everblades 5-2.*

Company Celebrates Fifth Anniversary By Giving Back

In The Garden – Sanibel’s Retail Garden Center & Outdoor Showroom is celebrating five years in business by giving back to five Sanibel and Captiva charities. Through the month of April, In The Garden pledged to donate $5 for every “Like” their Facebook page received. A total of 354 individuals liked the page and In The Garden will split the $1,770 donation between the Captiva Island Historical Society, the Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife (CROW), Children’s Education Center of the Islands, FISH of Sanibel-Captiva and the Sanibel Historical Museum and Village.

“Island residents and businesses have embraced and supported In The Garden for five years and we are showing our appreciation by giving back to charities that are the backbone of our island community,” said Robert Walsh, president of R.S. Walsh Landscaping and owner of In The Garden.

In The Garden is located at 3889 Sanibel Captiva Road, across from The Sanibel School. For more information, call 395-5859 or visit www.rswalsh.com.

Rotary Happenings

submitted by Shirley Jewell

Rotary International President Gary CK Huang urged the humanitarian organization’s 1.2 million members worldwide to assist the victims of the April 25 earthquake disaster in Nepal in any way possible, including contributions to ShelterBox. ShelterBox is the international disaster response charity that is Rotary’s project partner for disaster relief, delivering emergency shelter, warmth, and dignity to people made homeless by disasters worldwide. At the ready are a large number of ShelterBoxes for responses instantly to these types of disasters but depletion of stockpiled boxes goes quickly and financial contributions are needed to prepare additional boxes for large disasters such as Nepal. ShelterBoxes contain a tent to sleep 10 people, 10 sleeping bags or blankets, water purification equipment, pots, pans, knives forks and spoons, mosquito netting, ponchos, tools to rebuild their living quarters, cooking stove, and activity kits for young children.

or fundraising for projects that need financial help. They step up and make a difference.

Another perfect example of this is our Rotary District #6960 support of CART-Coins for Alzheimer Research Trust. Our Friday morning speaker last week was Rotarian Dr. Gary Goforth, founding program director of the Florida State University College of Medicine Family Medicine Residency Program at Lee Memorial Health System. Goforth made a visit to our club to bring attention to Rotary’s CART Fund. The CART Fund is dedicated to raising funds to provide seed money for cutting edge, high impact research in hopes of finding a cure/prevention for Alzheimer’s disease. The goal of the fund is to encourage exploratory and developmental AD research projects within the United States.

Sanibel-Captiva Rotarians, Roger Thrifthauser and Bill Rahe, immediately put into action a request via e-mail to club members to be ready to respond to this appeal with financial support for the purchasing of ShelterBox units slated for Nepal at last Friday’s meeting. Some of our snowbird Rotarians and others that would not be attending that meeting responded immediately with pledges amounting to $1,550, and the meeting brought additional contributions of $1,108. This $2,658 was then rounded up to $3,000 by The Sanibel Captiva Trust Company, funds in addition to $1,000 already slated by the Trust Fund budget for ShelterBox. This $4,000 will enable the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary to purchase ShelterBox units for Nepal.

Rotary is an amazing humanitarian organization and Rotarians, when challenged to make a difference in this world, contribute hours of volunteer time, whether directly with boots on the ground

Goforth’s PowerPoint slide show described Alzheimer’s as: “Alzheimer’s destroys brain cells. There are 100 billion nerve cells, or neurons, creating a branding network. Signals traveling through the neurons forest, form memories, thoughts, and feelings. Alzheimer’s destroys neurons, thus also destroying memories, thoughts, impulse control, personality, etc. Alzheimer is a brain failure.” As our population ages, the need for more information about Alzheimer’s disease is imperative and the fact is, that the typical research being done is not coming up with answers for us. CART supports cutting edge research. Not yet a Rotary International project, but being supported by a number of Rotary Districts across the United States, CART has awarded over $4,500,000, since beginning in 1995 to accredited Alzheimer's researchers.

CART uses a novel fundraising program. Rotarians are encouraged to voluntarily empty their pockets and purses of change, or whatever amount they choose in the blue CART buckets available on the tables whenever they attend a Rotary meeting. They also welcome contributions of currency, checks or credit cards. Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Trust Foundation has budgeted $1,000 for CART this year.

Culligan City Of Palms Classic Unveils New Logo

Darius Allen of the Florida Air Academy Falcons (Melbourne, Florida) drives the lane against the St. Francis Knights (Alpharetta, Georgia) during action in 2014

Basketball enthusiasts around the nation are already looking forward to the Culligan City of Palms Classic with great anticipation, and they can now see the down-to-the-minute countdown at a new website for the nation's number-one high school basketball tournament, cityofpalmsclassic.com. A sleek, modern logo has been unveiled to position the 43-year-old institution for the next half-century of thrilling athletics, camaraderie and celebration of the competitive spirit. The Culligan City of Palms Classic has also launched a new eNewsletter filled with valuable information and updates.

Executive Director John Naylor, now in his second year, has spearheaded the improvements in response to an extensive survey of the tournament's vast base of supporters. The survey provided feedback that will help the tournament continue to deliver the best high school basketball experience in the world, and exceed expectations as the tournament steadily grows.

At press time, the online clock shows 222 days and counting until tournament time, but it's not too early to get in on the excitement of this not-for-profit tournament featuring the top-ranked players and teams. The dynamic new website provides easy navigation for visitor information, ticket sales (available starting October 1), schedule, team information, history, sponsors and sponsorship opportunities, eNewsletter sign-up, a tournament bracket, scores and stats, information on how to lend financial support as a Friend of the Classic, and much more.

Culligan returns for its third year as Title Sponsor, and Enterprise Rent-A-Car is Presenting Sponsor for the second year. Official apparel and game ball provider, Nike, has given the Culligan City of Palms Classic its blessing to integrate its iconic "swoosh" into the tournament's elegant new logo.

The Culligan City of Palms Classic runs December 18 through 23 at the beautiful 2,300-seat gymnasium at Bishop Verot Catholic High School, a 21-year partner for the tournament. No fees are collected from players and teams, and Classic Basketball Inc., a 501(c)3 not-for-profit corporation that acts as a foundation for the tournament, covers all expenses for the players. For many of the players, the tournament represents their first opportunity to travel outside their own city.

More than 530 Culligan City of Palms players have advanced to NCAA Division I competition, with more than 60 advancing to play professionally in the NBA. Hundreds of coaches and scouts at every level use this venue for recruiting.

For more information or to sign up for the eNewsletter, visit cityofpalmsclassic.com.*

Where Did All The Time Go?

by Craig R. Hersch, Florida Bar Board Certified Wills, Trusts & Estates Attorney; CPA

I'm writing this column from my hotel room outside Boston where I've just moved my oldest daughter Gabi out of her Brandeis University dormitory room as her spring semester just ended. I've worked my tail off, helping her pack up her clothes, books, bedding and school supplies which will be stored over the summer until she returns here next fall.

Being on a college campus brings back a lot of memories. Except I don't remember my back hurting as much when I did all of this for myself several decades ago as a college student!

Everyone tells you that your kids grow up quickly and to enjoy them while they're young. It seems like yesterday I was bouncing Gabi on my knee. I turn around and she's halfway done with her undergraduate education, completing her sophomore year already. She won't be home this summer either; instead she scored an internship in New York City.

My middle daughter Courtney starts at the University of Florida this August as well. This fall looks challenging, getting everyone where they're supposed to be at the same time.

As an estate-planning attorney, I'm always dealing with my clients' inter-generational planning issues. The older I get, the more I realize how quickly life goes by. In years past, for example, I shook my head when a client would hand me their will that named guardians for their children, when those children are now over 40 years old. The wills sat in a safety deposit box for years and years, gathering dust, becoming irrelevant.

How did they let their documents get so out of date? But now, I realize that 20 or 30 years goes by in an instant.

It's still important to keep your legal documents up to date. This not only includes your will or revocable living trust, but also important ancillary documents such as your durable power of attorney, health care surrogate and living will. The Florida durable power of attorney statute was amended three years ago, for example. If you are a Florida resident and haven't updated it in the last few years, it's probably time to do so.

The same holds true with your will and revocable living trust. The trust and tax laws have changed dramatically in the last few years. Likewise, if your legal documents were drafted in another state, but you are now a Florida resident, it's probably time to review those documents as well.

Your health care surrogate names someone to make health care decisions for you in case you aren't able to do so yourself. Are the individuals that you have named in that document still the ones that you wish to make these decisions? Is their contact information that is listed on the document still accurate?

How about your living will? This is the document where you indicate whether you continued on page 21B

First Impressions Always Count

by Jeanie Tinch

There is one single room in your home that is guaranteed to make a first and lasting impression. Any idea which room that might be? Why, it's your foyer, of course.

This special, keynote area should definitely say "Welcome" to family and friends. It should reflect your personality and help to introduce your guests to the mood and style of your home. So, how can you achieve so much in what is usually such a small space?

Often, space limitation actually allows your ingenuity and imagination to soar. And since one seldom lingers in your foyer, why not try some way-out design ideas incorporating unusual objects? Even a striking color scheme could be the perfect solution for your entryway.

Because foyers come in countless shapes and sizes, you will need to pay attention to maximizing your specific entry. If it's rather small, then I suggest you make this space as interesting as possible – perhaps with a dramatic display of artwork or wall covering. If it's rather large, you might want to consider creating a space with more warmth, perhaps by incorporating a neutral color scheme.

Because these spaces are generally high traffic areas, floors should be durable and easy to maintain. Good lighting is also an important consideration for your guests. A center chandelier is usually sufficient in a small foyer, with care being taken that your chandelier isn't hung so low that it brushes the heads of your taller guests. Attractive wall sconces and perhaps flanking a mirror will also provide sufficient light in a smaller space.

In larger foyers, consider the addition of one unique and inspired piece of furniture to set your "stage." The addition of matching candlestick lamps would provide you with the perfect amount of welcoming ambiance.

Put your best decorating foot forward and make your entrance a grand one.

CIP'S PLACE

Cip's Place is named for the late Jimmy Cipriani, a longtime islander and owner of the property on which the restaurant sits. Jimmy always made time for a good conversation, good company and great food. In Jimmy's memory, Cip's styles itself as a local watering hole. A mural that takes up an entire wall shows lots of islanders through the ages – including Cip – and if you don't recognize them all, ask to see the "key."

Food choices range from "comfort" to culinary with some Caribbean and island favorites as well. And do try the home-made potato chips, the fried buttermilk chicken with sage gravy and the snapper tacos.

Choose between the outdoor garden patio or front porch. Indoor seating and full bar are also available. Hours are 11:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily with happy hour from 4 to 6 p.m.

Comedy Night To Benefit SalusCare

Michael Harris, The News-Press planning editor

Eight local celebrities will headline Laughter Is the Best Medicine Comedy Night, a unique new event to benefit SalusCare, the region's largest provider of treatment for individuals with mental health and substance use issues.

Each of the local celebrities will perform a five-minute stand-up routine and attendees will "vote" for the best comedic performance with their dollars.

The local celebrities who will exchange laughs for votes are:

- Michael Harris, The News-Press planning editor
- Larry Hart, Lee County Tax Collector
- Gwendolyn Howard-Powell, owner of Gwendolyn's Café
- Doug Molloy, former Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney
- Steve Russell, State Attorney for the 20th Judicial Circuit
- Marni Sawicki, Cape Coral Mayor
- Mike Scott, Lee County Sheriff
- Dr. Glenn Whitehouse, Florida Gulf Coast University associate dean, Planning & Assessment

"We wanted to develop something fresh that hasn't been done in this market before. Laughter Is the Best Medicine will not only showcase our local celebrities, but give everyone an opportunity to support a charity that provides mental health and substance use treatment for more than 18,000 people per year," said Mark Atkins, chair of SalusCare Development Committee.

In addition to the innovative concept, SalusCare is breaking new ground in the timing of the event, which is planned for the middle of summer, Saturday, July 25, at The Sidney & Berne Davis Art Center in downtown Fort Myers.

Lee County Sheriff Mike Scott

State Attorney Steve Russell, left, and Larry Hart, Lee County Tax Collector

"There are so many events during season that it's not possible for residents to attend all that they would like to. Yet, there is very little in the way of fundraising events in the summer when local residents might have more time to attend," Atkins said.

Organizers conferred with professional fundraisers and party planners who agreed that it is time to spread out the social calendar to incorporate the summer months.

The evening will include heavy hors-d'oeuvres, beer and wine served in a casual atmosphere. Attendees will have the opportunity to "vote" for the best comedic performance by placing cash or checks in containers labeled for each comic.

To help the celebrity comics prepare for the evening, Sam Walch, a professor at Florida Gulf Coast University, will work with them individually and as a group to perfect their routines.

Walch is a former touring stand-up comedian who teaches comedy and public speaking in the Communications Department at FGCU. He has performed in comedy clubs, casinos and cruise ships in the United States, Canada and the Caribbean and is the author of an online textbook on public speaking.

Tickets will be available beginning in May at $100 each or $500 for a reserved table for four with table signage. Other sponsorships also are available from $1,000.

Funds raised will be used to provide outpatient psychiatry and therapy to children and adolescents in this area whose families can least afford it. One in 10 children has serious mental health problems severe enough to impair how they function at home, in school or in the community, according to the National Center for Children & Poverty at Columbia University. Left untreated, mental illnesses can lead to more difficult to treat illnesses and to the development of co-occurring disorders.

Trust Company Presents Awards To Two Sanibel School Students

The Al Hanser Humanitarian Awards

On April 30, an awards ceremony was held at The Dunes Golf & Tennis Club to celebrate the efforts of two Sanibel School students and their commitment to helping others. An essay contest, sponsored by The Sanibel Captiva Trust Company, invited students to tell their story of participation in community service

School Smart

by Shelley M. Greggs, NCSF

Dear Shelley, My daughter is in preschool and going to kindergarten in the fall. I want to help her be more prepared for reading but we don't have much time together at home. What can I do to help her and make our time working on reading something enjoyable for both of us?

Sonya J., Fort Myers Beach

Sonya,

You have asked a great question. So many parents want to help their children in becoming strong readers but are not sure how to go about it. Children mature at different rates, as do their reading skills, which typically emerge between the ages of 4 and 7. I'd like to recommend two strategies that you could use to encourage your daughter's interest in reading.

The first thing you can do is to become a role model for her. Let her see you reading books, magazines, newspapers, or even e-reader devices. Tell her how enjoyable it is to read. Children imitate their parents and reading is a most important behavior to model for her.

The second thing is to read to and with your child. Children who are read to three times per week or more do much better in later development than children who are read to less than three times per week. Picture book reading provides children with many of the skills that are necessary for school readiness: vocabulary, sound structure, the meaning of print, the structure of stories and language, sustained attention, the pleasure of learning, and much more.

How we read to preschoolers is as important as how frequently we read to them. The Stony Brook Reading and Language Project has developed a method of reading to preschoolers that is called dialogic reading. This technique is easy and interactive. Typically when adults share a book with a preschooler, they read and the child listens. In dialogic reading, the adult helps the child become the teller of the story and the adult becomes the listener, the questioner, and the audience for the child. There is a sequence of questions to present to the child when you use this technique.

Reading Rockets, a wonderful website about reading outlines the fundamental technique in dialogic reading which is called the PEER sequence. "The adult:

- Prompts the child to say something about the book,
- Evaluates the child's response,
- Expands the child's response by rephrasing and adding information to it, and
- Repeats the prompt to make sure the child has learned from the expansion. Here is an example of what the and how their experience helped make a difference in the community.

The seventh grade essay winner was Mya Wesley, who wrote about her time volunteering at the Sanibel Shell Fair and the eighth grade winner was Carson Towle for his essay about volunteering for FISH. Each winner received a check for $150 and a donation of $100 in their name to the charity of their choice. In addition, the Trust Company also donated $1000 to The Sanibel School Fund.

Sanibel Captiva Trust Company Executive Vice President Steve Greenstein emceed the ceremony and gave special thanks to Kim Kouril for all of her efforts on behalf of The Sanibel School Fund and to Principal Barbara Von Harten for her leadership and inspiration to all the students at The Sanibel School.

Also on hand was Al Hanser, founder and chairman of the Trust Company. When he was invited to the podium to present the trophies, it was revealed that they had been designated as the Al Hanser Humanitarian Award as a tribute to his own humanitarian efforts on behalf of the community. Since 2001, under Hanser's guidance, The Sanibel Captiva Trust Company has donated over $1 million in support of local organizations and people who engage in acts of kindness, sacrifice and compassion to improve the quality of life on the islands.*

Airport Adds Electric Vehicle Charging Stations In Parking Lots

Southwest Florida International Airport (RSW) now offers charging stations for customers operating electric vehicles. The Lee County Port Authority recently installed two Electric Vehicle (EV) Charging Stations in the Short-Term Parking Garage and two in the Long-Term Parking Lot. There is no charge to use this service, but regular parking rates apply as drivers exit the lots.

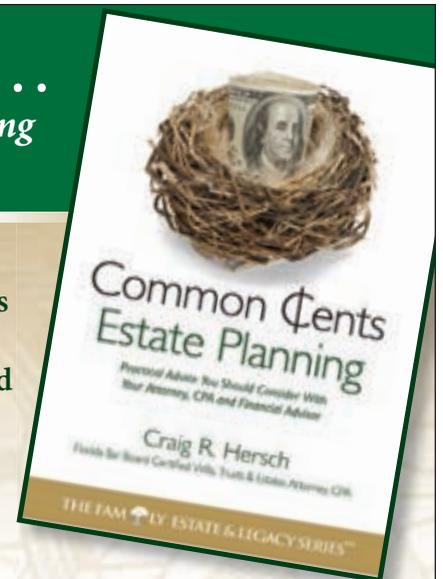

The L2 PowerPost offers a low current, Level 2 charge designed for commercial outdoor use. It features retractable cord reel technology and comes with a J1772 coupler that will fit any hybrid with a receptacle and electric vehicles. It operates 208 to 240 volts. Signage has been added in each parking area to help direct passengers to the "electric vehicles only" spots. Charging stations are available on a first-come, first-served basis. EV Charging Stations are located in short-term parking on the third level, along the south side of the lot near the exit and in long-term parking in the first row.

ETFs – Boon Or Trading Trap?

by Timothy P. Vick, Senior Vice President and Senior Portfolio Manager

The 40th anniversary of the launch of the first index fund passed recently, and we noted with irony that the leading proponent of indexing – Vanguard's founder John Bogle – seized the opportunity to chastise an industry that took indexing to a marketing extreme.

"My idea in creating that original index fund was the essence of simplicity: Buy the stocks representing the lion's share of the U.S. stock market, weigh them by their market capitalizations, (and) hold them forever," Bogle wrote in March.

But that's not what happened. Wall Street affixed on Bogle's brainchild, and index funds proliferated (they now account for 32 percent of all equity mutual fund assets). Their popularity eventually gave rise in 1993 to the Exchange Traded Fund (ETF), pooled baskets of stocks linked to indexes that can be traded minute by minute – unlike mutual funds that post their values once a day. More than 1,700 ETFs now list on U.S. exchanges, giving investors a chance to buy their favorite baskets of stocks (representing more than 1,000 distinct indexes) and to reap excess portfolio returns from adroit buying and selling. In one of the most disturbing financial trends of the past decade, investors have moved nearly $2 trillion in common stocks out of their portfolios and replaced them with ETFs.

Count us among the continued skeptics. The more the ETF industry proliferates, the less incremental value these products offer investors, and the more harm they seem to be bringing to sensible investing strategies – not to mention that investors who use ETFs perform worse than those who don't. In a word, individual ETFs have largely replaced individual stocks as "products" that are created, packaged, and sold by legions of brokers who promote them for rapid-fire timing of sectors and indexes.

The chart on this page is most telling. The largest, most-popular ETFs today sport turnover rates far in excess of 1,000 percent, meaning their shares are held by investors, on average, just days. Indeed, investors who ostensibly try to capture market-beating returns in oil, emerging markets, small-cap companies, Asian stocks, or in technology quickly become enticed into ruinous trading behavior. As an example, shares of the largest companies within the S&P 500 are being held an average of nine months (see table). Yet the shares of the S&P500 SPDR ETF, which allow investors to own little bits of all 500 index stocks, turn over every 8 days, according to recent trading data. Which group of investors would outperform over the long-term; the group buying and holding the S&P leaders, or the group trading that same package of leaders every eight days?

We have always espoused a back-to-basics, "take-control" approach to investing. Since ETFs were not packaged with our clients' unique interests in mind, our use of them in accounts has been sparing. We strive instead to own strong, growing companies that we know intimately, and let the companies' growth increase portfolio value over time at rates that can satisfy your financial goals. With ETFs, or baskets of stocks, you have given up all control of risks, the purchase price, the sale price, security selection and ultimately your returns.

want life-prolonging heroics to continue even if two doctors agree (and your health care surrogate agrees) that there is no medical probability of recovering and that the life prolonging procedures are only artificially prolonging the process of dying. Do you want to remain comatose in a hospital bed hooked up to the machines as long as it takes for you to expire? If you are a Florida resident, is that document drafted with Florida law in mind?

Each state's laws are different from one another, so it is vital that your legal documents are drafted in compliance with the law of the state of your primary residence. It doesn't matter if you spend half the year in Massachusetts – so long as your primary residence is Florida, then you should have Florida documents.

On the way up here, I boarded a JetBlue flight from our airport in Fort Myers to Boston. The entire plane was filled with our seasonal residents flocking "naht" as the New Englanders say, for the summer. They all seemed to have enjoyed our nice weather over the winter, escaping one of the most brutal winters that Boston has seen in its history.

But you would never know that the winter was so terrible here. The dogwoods and juneberry trees are sporting their beautiful spring white flowers while the crape myrtle, royal empress trees sprout stunning burgundy or pink flowers depending upon the variety. Plum leafed crabapple trees, bright golden shower trees and hot pink azalea bushes add even more color to the landscape. All this can be enjoyed walking the Brandeis campus. Driving around Boston has also been a real treat – it's absolutely gorgeous.

Soon I'll be returning on a flight home to Fort Myers, where I'll look at my daughters' empty bedrooms and wonder how all the time went by so quickly.

Ways To Make Your Dentist Less Terrifying

by Suzy Cohen, RPh

Dear Pharmacist: My friend Jan who is a self-confessed "big coward who cringes" at the thought of any dental procedure, asked me if she should take cannabis prior to her dental appointment.

She is not able to use nitrous gas due to her body crashing from it (from a methylation SNP). She's had a bad reaction to it.

When Jan asked me about "eating a little brownie," I reminded her that she lives in a state where medical marijuana has not been decriminalized yet, and federal law prohibits it. Besides, a Sativa strain (versus Indica) would heighten her anxiety and increase vividness. Believe me, I'm not an aficionado, but I know that much! Also, a cannabis treat could make for a loooooooonnnnnngggggger procedure if you know what I mean. And like a good friend, I pointed out the biggest dilemma of all: How will you deal with the munchies with all that gauze in your mouth!

Many of you are skittish about dental work too. I can't say I am, however I've come close to it. I think the sound of drilling, or other noises is the hardest part. When I had two hours of scraping done near my gum line a few months ago, I brought in a soft, fuzzy microwavable hot pack. I asked the hygienist to warm it up and then I placed it on my abdomen where it provided instant comfort. I plugged in my headphones and listened to upbeat music. It was loud enough to muffle my own 'mental noise' as well as the scraping sound she was making, plus several comments about "all the blood." Here are other ideas to reduce anxiety and pain:

Essential oil of bergamot or lavender- Put a drop of either (or a drop of both) in your hands, and rub together, then cup your hands and inhale deeply. Do before the trip, and while you're there. St. John's wort If you buy the liquid extract, you can take a small dose using just a few drops taken one hour before your visit.

sequence might look like. The parent and the child are looking at the page of a book that has a picture of a fire engine on it. The parent says, "What is this?" (the prompt) while pointing to the fire truck. The child says, truck, and the parent follows with "That's right (the evaluation); it's a red fire truck (the expansion); can you say fire truck?" (the repetition)". This technique should be used on almost every page of the book."

There are various types of prompts you can develop if interested and they are found on the Reading Rockets website located at www.readingrockets.org/article/dialogic-reading-effective-way-read-preschoolers

Research tells us that this is a very effective technique and children who have been read to dialogically are substantially ahead of children who have been read to traditionally on tests of language development. In fact the data indicates that children can jump ahead by several months in just a few weeks of dialogic reading.

Children will enjoy dialogic reading more than traditional reading as long as you keep it light, vary what you do from reading to reading, and follow the child's interest. Don't push children with more prompts than they can handle and have fun!

'Up Against The Wall' Resolves Stress

by Karen L. Semmelman, Certified EEM, JD, AAML (03-12)

Last week we reviewed Neurolymphatic Reflex points, those points located on the surface of the body that when rubbed, enable toxins to be released from the system, clearing stagnant energies (including emotional energy) and thus leaving you feeling invigorated and energized. Remember that our lymph system has no pump so rubbing these points is quite beneficial to releasing toxins. Points exist on the front and back of the body.

This week we focus on how to do a flush of the Neurolymphatic points on the back, which points are parallel to the spinal column. So, when you and your significant other have a "tiff," say "Hands against the wall." At this point you are wondering how this position can possibly resolve the conflict. It is easy. If both are stressed and the frustration is high, a great way to expel the emotional toxin is to flush it out. How?

Step 1: Have the partner stand about three feet from the wall with both hands against the wall with elbows locked. By standing firmly in this position, the person is stable since the other partner will be exerting pressure. The other partner stands behind the person facing the wall, placing both thumbs on either side of the spinal column beginning right below the neck.

Step 2: The partner circles, with pressure, the points that are on both sides of the spine at the notch of each vertebrae (being careful to never push on the spine itself), using either the thumbs or middle fingers and applying his or her body weight to lean into the points.

Step 3: The points are deeply rubbed or circled for at least three seconds each as you move from the base of the neck all the way down to the sacrum area. If there is a point that is particularly sore, then give extra attention to that point – it needs it in order to release the toxins. Always check with your partner to make sure the pressure is comfortable.

Step 4: Sweep the energy off the body from head to toe by running your hands over the body two or three times. Do the flush with thumbs a second time and then sweep the energy off the body again. You have just made your partner feel better and you feel better having released that frustration from both of you. Switch partners and both will feel better. The Spinal Flush works since each of these points is associated with a meridian and each meridian is associated with an organ, thus creating an immediate release for both giver and receiver.

Other options include having the receiving party lay down. If you don't have a partner, wrap two tennis balls in a cloth napkin with rubber bands at each end to hold the tennis balls in place and then put the tennis balls behind your back against the wall and lean into them. You will receive immediate gratification.

Have fun with your energy! Next week's topic is Plumping the Diaphragm Invigorates.

*If you have a question, email Karen Semmelman at SemmEnergyCenter@gmail.com. Learn more at www.semmelmanenergy.com. EEM does not diagnose or cure illness, but working with subtle energies of the body has been shown to help many conditions.

Mom And Me

by Lizzie and Pryce

Lizzie and Pryce answer your questions and give advice about aging concerns from a two-generational perspective. A mother and daughter team, Lizzie is a retired RN and health educator, and Pryce is a licensed psychotherapist in private practice who specializes in the care of elders and people with chronic illnesses.

Dear Mom & Me,

I went to a doctor because I felt terrible. He ordered a few tests and later told me that I had an immune system disease and ordered more tests.

When I went back, he just talked and talked, and I didn't know anything more when I left than I did when I first went.

Why do doctors talk like that when they must know their patients don't have the faintest idea what they are talking about?

Rebecca

Dear Rebecca,

I would not generalize to say "all physicians" talk to patients in the way your physician spoke to you. Ask your physician questions about what you do not understand. The only way he/she knows is if you ask.

Look at it this way; it is a good thing that your physician tries to explain things to you so you are starting in a very good place.

Pryce

Dear Rebecca,

Doctors, lawyers and many other professionals have their own lingo. They are so accustomed to talking to people similar to themselves that they cannot see or refuse to see when some of their patient's eyes cloud over.

These same professionals are not nearly as successful as their peers who can talk on the level of their patients or clients and rarely get the desired results they are working toward. Before you leave or during the consultation interrupt them and tell them, "I am sorry but I do not understand what you are saying."

Got A Problem? Dr. Connie Is In

by Constance Clancy

Q: I love to give but I have a hard time receiving, especially when it comes to relationships. How can I learn to receive and feel good?

A: There is a beautiful saying that giving and receiving are the same. Most of us have so much love inside that we want to give to others, yet we seem to have more difficulty receiving. If we stop and think about it, love is all around and comes to us in many ways. It may be through spreading and receiving daily acts of kindness, such as giving someone directions, bringing others flowers, taking someone you care about to a show or concert, donating to those in need, rescuing an animal, or being a listening ear.

Thirteenth century poet Rumi writes: "Your task is not to seek love, but merely to seek and find all the barriers within yourself that you have built against it."

Once we can learn to receive all forms of love that come to us from all walks of life in small ways, there lies an incredible awakening. It is not just about looking for a romantic kind of love, although that can be an expansion in one's life, it's also about the ability to give and receive love on all levels and truly mean it from the depths of your soul.

In our culture, we get so caught up in rejection that we forget to see that beautiful love that surrounds us if we just open our eyes. If rejection occurs, send that person love and an act of love and kindness will come to you and you can feel worthy of receiving. Remember that if someone is rejecting you, they are rejecting a part of themselves and they are needing love.

If we can learn to be loved and give love in an unconditional way with no expectation of anything in return. When we are letting go of all the conditions on how we receive love and can learn to accept love into our lives, there is a natural order and love and life happens in our highest good for all.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Don't put off dealing with any negative feelings that might be left over from a recent confrontation. The sooner all is resolved, the sooner you can move forward with fewer complications.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Leos and Leonas might feel the urge to redecorate their dens, and that can turn into a good opportunity to strengthen family ties by putting the whole pride to work to make it happen.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Look for the most efficient way to get a job done quickly and well. Taking more time than you need to make it look more challenging is a short-sighted move you might regret later on.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Travel remains strong in your aspect. And this time, it could involve someone traveling a great distance to come to see you. Meanwhile, an important matter suddenly could need your attention.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A workplace situation becomes a lot more bothersome than you'd expected. Be careful not to be pulled into all that anger. Look for support among others who also want to avoid trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Cheer up, lonely lovers, wherever you are. Just when you thought you'd been deleted from Cupid's database, the chubby cherub proves that's just not so. Congratulations.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A casual relationship could take a more serious turn. Are you ready for it? Your stars say you are. Paired Sea Goats also will find a renewed richness in their relationships.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Meeting a collaborator with new ideas seems to be a dream come true. But for both your sakes, be sure all your legal i's are dotted and t's are crossed before you start working together.

PISCES (February 19 to March 21) A romantic overture flatters the usually unflappable Fish. But since it's a sincere from-the-heart gesture, go ahead and enjoy it. A minor health problem responds well to treatment.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have the warm heart of a Taurean and the sensitivity of a Gemini. You would make a wonderful leader. So go ahead: Run for office.

THIS WEEK IN HISTORY

- On May 19, 1836, during a raid, Comanche Indians in Texas kidnap 9-year-old Cynthia Ann Parker and kill her family. Adopted into the Comanche tribe, she lived a happy life with them for 25 years until Texas Rangers recaptured her and forced her to live again among Anglo-Americans. Weakened by self-imposed starvation, she died of influenza.

- On May 18, 1920, Karol Jozef Wojtyla is born in Poland. Wojtyla went on to become Pope John Paul II, history's most well-traveled pope and the first non-Italian to hold the position since the 16th century. Pope John Paul II issued the Catholic Church's first apology for its actions during World War II.

- On May 21, 1932, aviator Amelia Earhart becomes the first pilot to repeat Charles Lindbergh's feat, landing her plane in Ireland after a 2,000-mile solo flight across the North Atlantic.

- On May 23, 1941, Joe "The Brown Bomber" Louis beats Buddy Baer to retain his heavyweight title at Griffith Stadium in Washington, D.C. Baer knocked Louis through the ropes in the first round, but Louis clawed his way back and eventually gutted out a victory.

- On May 22, 1969, the legendary actor, philanthropist and automobile enthusiast Paul Newman makes his onscreen racing debut in the film "Winning." Three years later, Newman launched a racing career of his own, driving a Lotus Elan in his first Sports Car Club of America race.

- On May 24, 1971, at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, an antiwar newspaper advertisement signed by 29 U.S. soldiers supporting the Concerned Officers Movement appears. The ad was in support of the group's members who opposed the departure of the carrier USS Constellation for Vietnam.

- On May 20, 1995, President Bill Clinton permanently closes the two-block stretch of Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House to all vehicular traffic, citing the need for security. The road had been opened to traffic for nearly 200 years.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

- It was a man named Thomas Jones who made the following sage observation:

"Friends may come and go, but enemies accumulate."

- If you're like the average American, you order meals to take away from restaurants more often than you actually eat inside a restaurant.

- You may be forgiven if you've never heard of Violet Jessup, who lived a remarkably fortunate (or unfortunate, depending on your point of view) life. At the age of 23, Jessup was serving as a steward on the RMS Olympic when the luxury liner collided with a British warship and sank. She survived to continue her profession, taking a position on the RMS Titanic less than two years later, in 1912. That didn't end well, as we all know, but once again, Jessup survived. Amazingly, she continued her oceangoing career, and during World War I she served as a nurse aboard the Hospital Ship Britannic. When the Britannic struck a mine and sank, Jessup was pulled underwater and hit her head on the keel of the ship. Despite her injuries, she was rescued once again. Three maritime disasters didn't seem to faze her, though; she remained a stewardess for the rest of her career.

- In 2007, researchers using Google Earth discovered the world's largest beaver dam. Located in the wilderness of northern Canada, the dam is more than a half-mile long at 2,790 feet; experts estimate the structure was started in the mid-1970s.

- If you're a resident of Ohio, please keep in mind that in that state, it is illegal to get undressed in front of a man's portrait.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"The greatest analgesic, soporific, stimulant, tranquilizer, narcotic, and to some extent even antibiotic -- in short, the closest thing to a genuine panacea -- known to medical science is work." --Thomas Szasz

NOW HERE'S A TIP

- It's better to be a butterfly. The more social you are, the better your health, researchers say.
- Plastic grocery bags always come in handy. Try storing them in empty tissue boxes for the car or bathroom, or use an empty 12-pack soda box for more storage under your kitchen sink or in the garage.

- "For foot cramps at bedtime, eat a banana in the evening. I think it is the potassium in the bananas, but it has had a good effect for me. And it can't hurt to get another serving of fruit, right?" -- L.I. in Missouri
- "Another great use for baby powder (or corn starch): If you have a deck of cards that are sticking together, simply place them in a baggie and add a tablespoon of powder. Seal and shake, getting the dust in between the cards. When you remove the cards, shuffle them over a kitchen towel, and they will be like brand new." -- R.D. in Texas

- Fill a mop bucket with a dustpan? Yes! Use the large end of the dustpan as a funnel from the faucet over the side of the sink, where your mop bucket is waiting to catch the waterfall. The handle acts as a spout.

- You can substitute black-bean puree for flour when making brownies, and it tastes so good! It's an even swap. Just make sure you rinse the canned beans well to remove added sodium, and run them through a food processor to puree.

Pets Of The Week

Hello, my name is Avis. I'm a 1-year-old neutered male tan and black Boxer/German Shepherd mix. I'm young, handsome and full of energy. I love playing with other energetic dogs, running, wrestling and splashing around in the water. If you're young and active, I just might be the perfect match for you. I know my basic commands and am willing to learn new tricks. Maybe we could play Frisbee, agility or fly ball.

My adoption fee is $40 for dogs 40 pounds and over (regularly $75) during Animal Services' Spring Fever adoption promotion.

Hello, my name is Jinga. I'm a 2-year-old neutered male black and white domestic short-hair. I'm a little shy around other kitties, but I'm a very people friendly cat who craves attention. I would love to spend some time on your lap, but I also love to explore and play so I can entertain myself while you're away.

My adoption fee is $50 (get $20 off the fee when you donate item for kitten care during Animal Services' Spring Fever adoption promotion).

For information about this week's pets, call 533-7387 (LEE-PETS) or log on to Animal Services' website at www.LeeLostPets.com. When calling, refer to the animal's ID number. The website updates every hour so you will be able to see if these or any other pets are still available.

The shelter is open for adoptions from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The shelter is located at 5600 Banner Drive, Fort Myers, next to the Lee County Sheriff's Office, off Six Mile Cypress Parkway.

All adoptions include spay/neuter surgery, age-appropriate vaccinations, rabies vaccination and county license if three months or older, flea treatment, worming, heartworm test for dogs six months and over, feline AIDS and leukemia test for cats, training DVD, 10-day health guarantee, and a bag of Science Diet pet food.

The adoption package is valued at $500.✪

COCO

I come from Cincinnati. My first Dad was a fireman who died in the line of duty. It made me very sad when I lost him. He was very special. I was taken to the Cincinnati SPCA and put up for adoption. I was picked by a couple with a retired fireman in their family. They have a dog and a two-year-old child. A couple months later, my new family moved here from Cincinnati. I like it here, it never gets real cold. I love my new Mom and Dad, but the dog scares me and the child, now 3 years old, gives me a pretty hard time. I don't think he means to, he's just a baby. My Mom thinks I would be safer and happier in another home. I will miss her, but it would be nice not to hide under the bed all the time.

As you can see, I'm all black except for one white spot on my chest. I am 5 years old, I'm front declawed and have a microchip. I love to sit on laps when I'm not afraid of being chased or hurt. I like sinks, tubs and to sit in between the shower curtains when my Mom or Dad takes a shower. My Mom and Dad love me very much, and like all parents, they want the best for me. Their wish for me is to be unafraid in my environment, content and happy.

I loved my first Dad, the fireman. Maybe there is another fireman or someone else out there to love me and make me feel safe. Contact PAWS volunteer, Krystle at 283-1124 if you can give me a peaceful, forever home.✪
